I Am Alive To What I Live

I am.
I do not just exist,
I live.
Each person has the right
To be what he wants.
If I
Can be what I want,
Then I am powerful.
I am just one
In a world of many
But I am powerful.

I Am; We Are

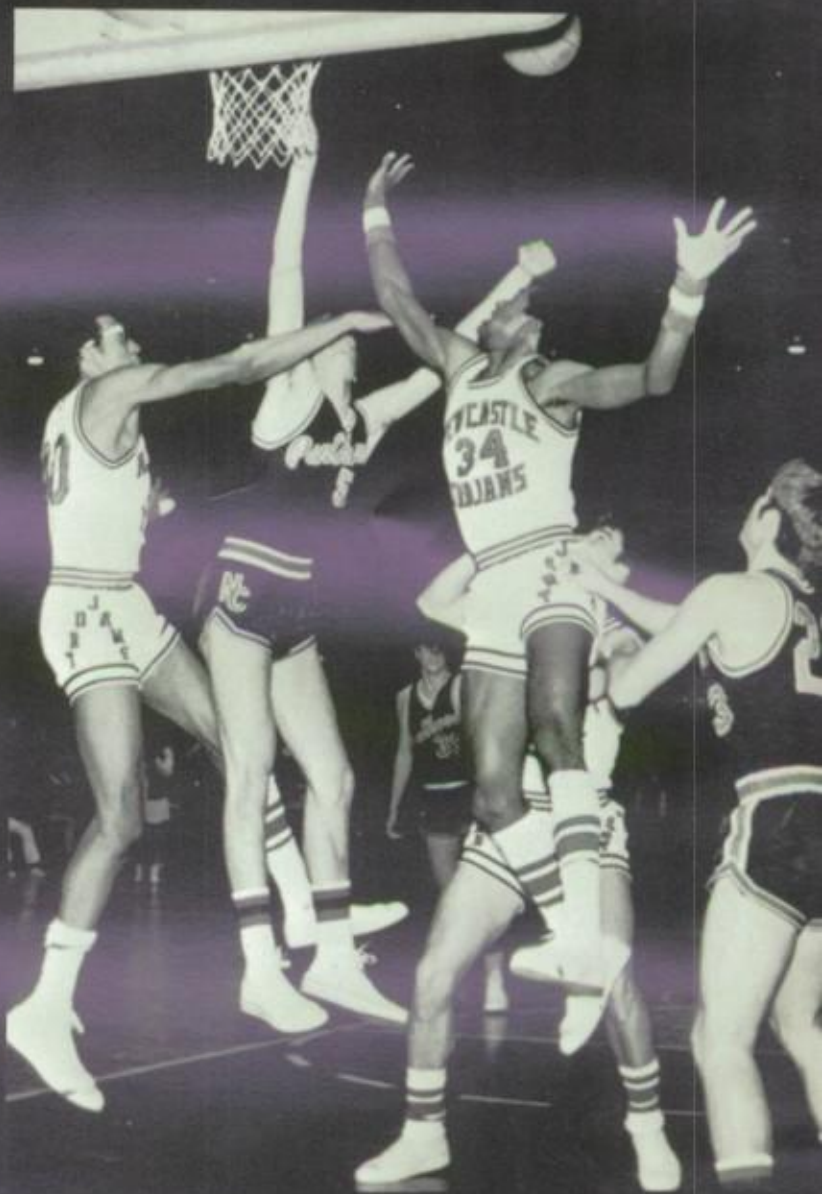

TOP: Putting on a play is a tremendous load that requires many rehearsals, as Vicki Horn, Blaine Hurst, and Lisa Cassidy found. RIGHT: I am a trash can. FAR RIGHT: On rainy days the courtyard walk becomes a miniature lake... Susan Williams finds that this can pose an interesting problem.

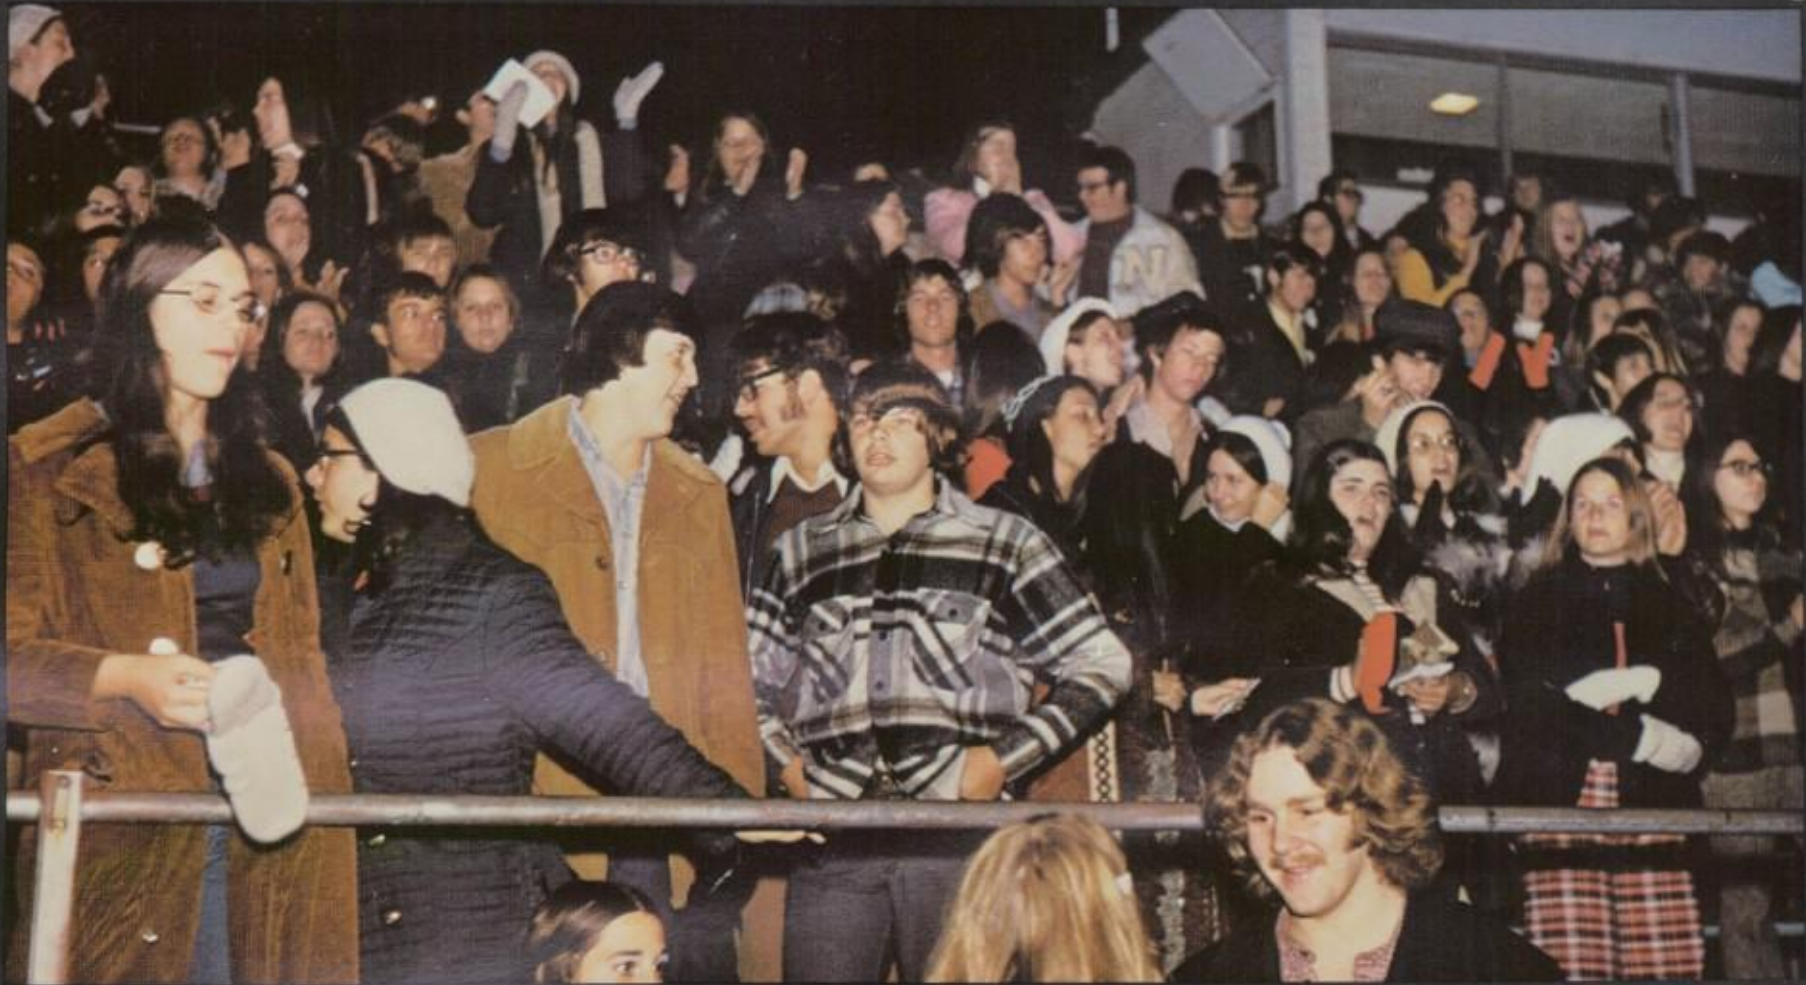

I am only
What I make myself.
People influence me,
But I decide what to be
And what to do.
Who can say
What is good and
What is bad?
If I do what I want well
Then it is good.
I must measure my own success,
But not be disillusioned by it.
Society
Will also measure my success.
Will we measure
The same things?

Over 1300 converge
On school grounds daily.
Are we being programmed
Or are we learning?
Perhaps learning
Is accepting programming.
Problems arise
When such a large number
Meet on common terms.
These are overcome
Only when students
And faculty
Combine to combat them.
But in a private world
Of so many,
It becomes hard
To hold on to Individuality.
Half of a student's success
In school
Comes from retaining
His own ideas,
While accepting
And respecting others.
Learning
Can only be achieved
When ideas are exchanged.

Attempting, Forever Reaching

I discover,
I project,
I question,
And I learn.
I learn to keep my eyes open.
I attempt
To keep my mind open.
There are still and always will be
Fields upon fields of
Questions and answers.
I go through Chrysler High,
But I still will not be done,
For C.H.S. has only laid
The foundation for
All my knowledge.

m y body cries out—
 Too much pressure,
 Too much activity.
 School puts responsibility on my shoulders;
 Responsibility I've never known.
 Too often survival, instead of success
 Becomes the main goal.
 I need a place where I can be free.
 But where does complete freedom exist
 In such a busy world?
 My mind offers the only real freedom.
 There I am the originator of my own thoughts.
 I can be honest.
 I can be free.
 I can be me.

We Are Striving For Success, Not Survival

The Time Was Right For 'A Time For Us'

The love song from Romeo and Juliet, "A Time For Us," was the theme of Prom 1972. Enthusiastic juniors spent long, hard hours transforming the girls' gym into a fantastic world of color and flowers. The school was left deserted and motionless, awaiting the arrival of the first guests.

As juniors, seniors and their guests entered, they found a quaint little village. As couples walked on, they passed a French restaurant, then stopped to get their picture taken as a memory of Prom. The guests saw a room of color and flowers as they entered Prom. In a corner was the coronation stand with white wrought iron furniture and an arch of carnations. Around this were long hanging vines, and over all of this was a sky filled with white clouds. "Easy Does It" provided music from the bandstand.

At 11:00, all eyes were focused on the arch of carnations as they watched seven candidates and their escorts walk through the arch onto the stage. "A Time For Us" was climaxed by the crowning of Teresa Stonerock, Prom Queen 1972, by Chris Barr, junior class president and Becky Foster, Prom Queen 1971. Teresa and her court were given long-stemmed roses as a remembrance of Prom 1972.

Kay Green Reigns As Queen Of Winter Dance

Huge posters, depicting forest creatures and young lovers, park benches and flower laden trees helped to transform the Girls' Gym into a park. Student Council members worked hard to create this illusion as "Saturday In The Park", this year's winter dance, arrived. The use of black lights gave the gym an air of romance. Small programs describing the dance also were given as remembrances to all who attended.

The versatile band, Hitchcock Railroad, delighted couples as they found themselves dancing to slow, rhythmic sounds as well as the swinging beat of popular rock.

The most important and elegant part of the evening came as the nine queen candidates and escorts were introduced. Standing on a platform decorated with flowers and benches, they awaited the announcement of the queen. Within moments, a radiant Kay Green found herself being crowned by Steve Hoover. She and her escort, Gary Maddox, then led the couples in a slow, romantic dance which climaxed the evening as the band began to play "Groovin."

The colorful decorations, the versatile band, and a charming queen and court consisted a delightful evening.

Fun Is Spontaneous When Friends Get Together

Laughter was the element that made life bearable for many people. The world would have been a lonely place if people couldn't have discovered something to brighten up the day.

This art of finding the light amid the shadows was held by many CHS students. It was the little things like a euchre game being heartily played, a group bursting spontaneously into song because they felt like it, a snowball fight in the courtyard during module break, or the opening of frisbe season in the spring that made life enjoyable. On any Friday night, high school students could be found bowling, eating a pizza, cruising around the town or attending a movie, enjoying everything they did.

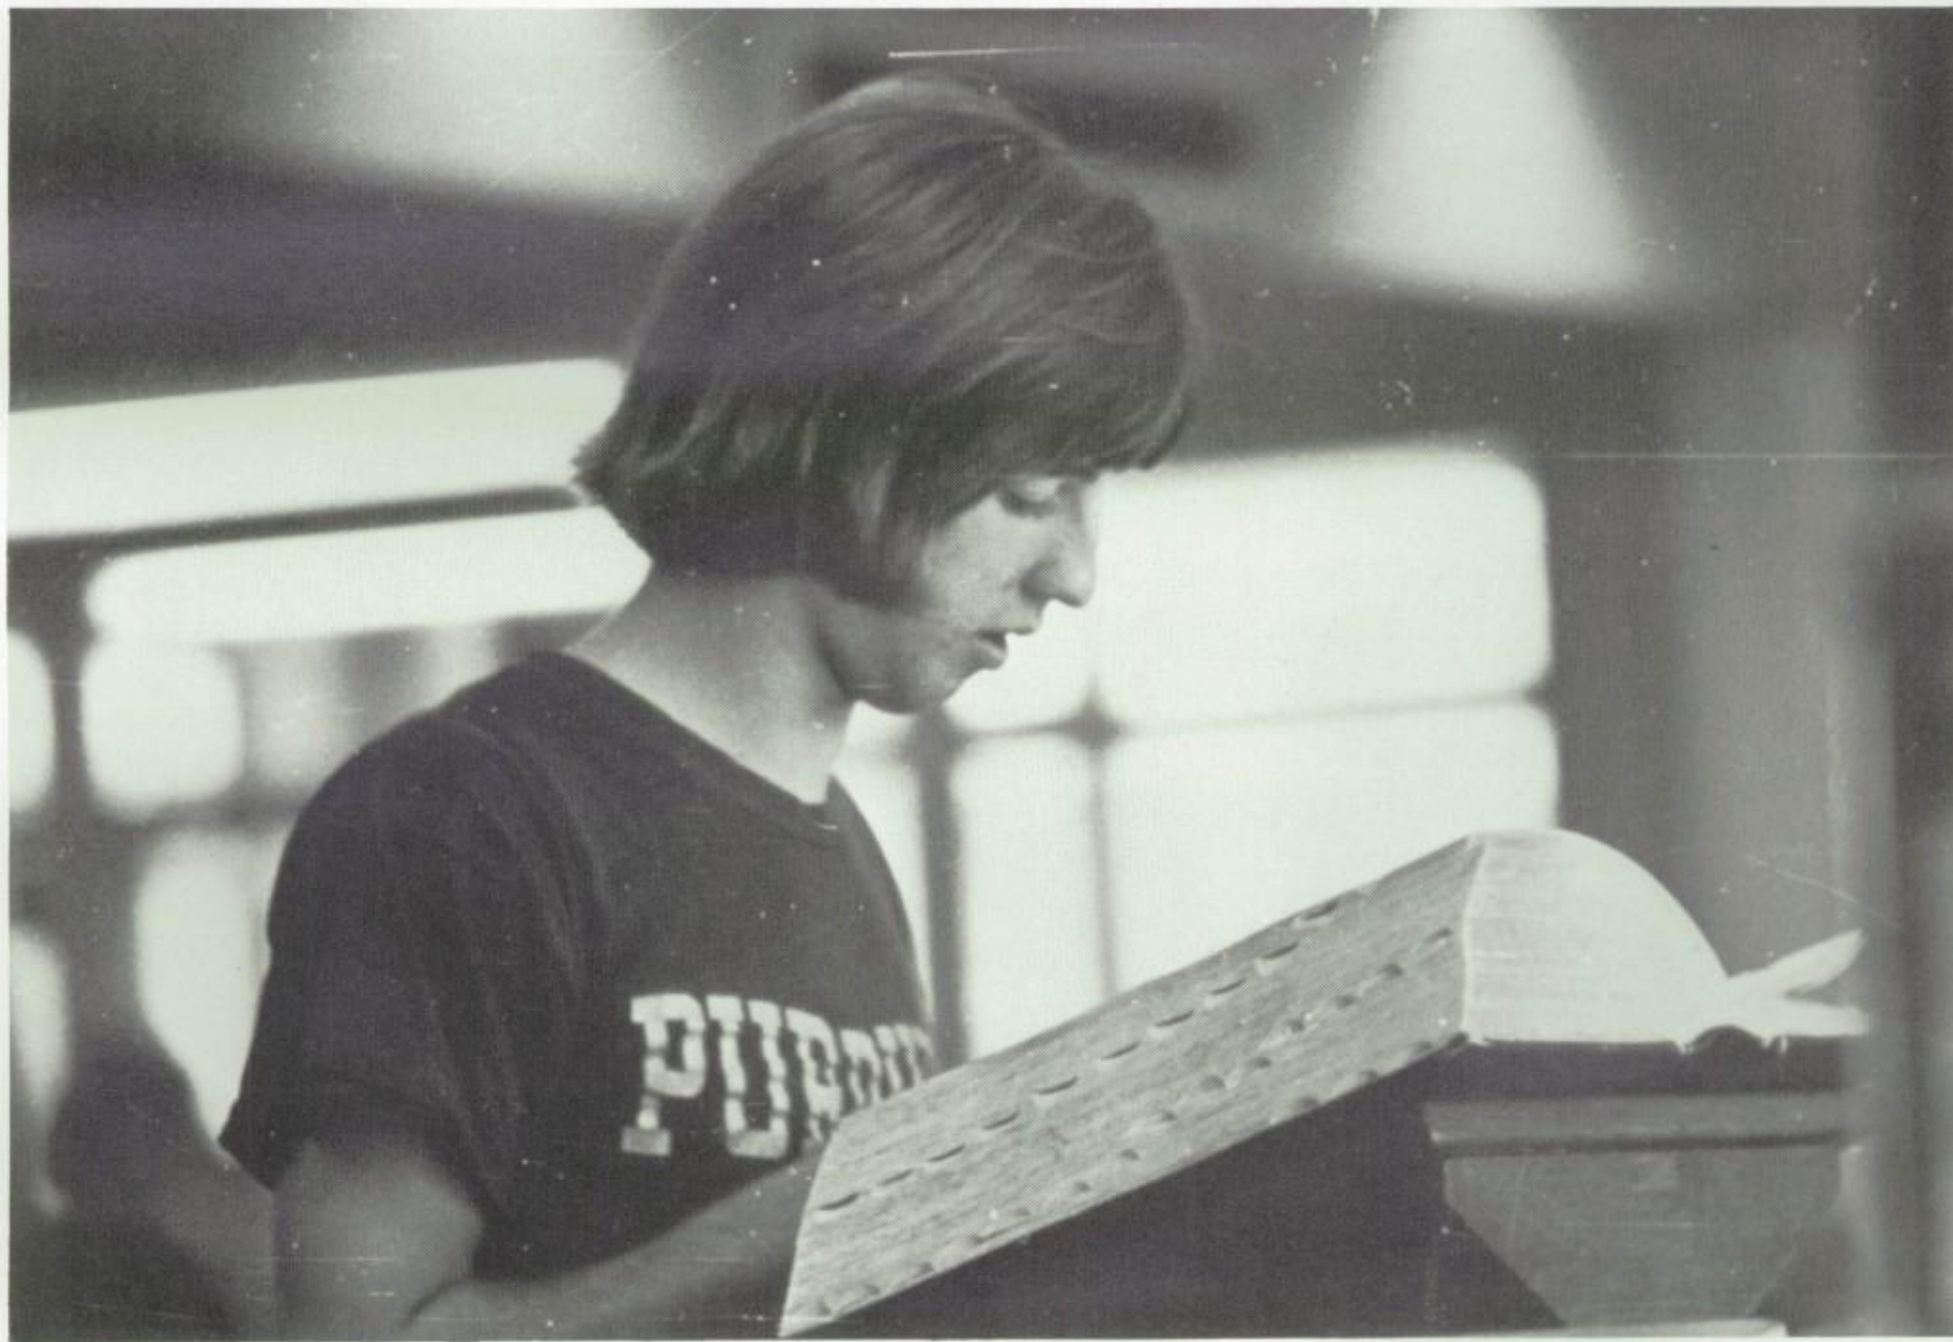

Both in school and around the community, most students used their imagination to discover new and different ways to have fun, almost making it a challenge to see who could originate the nuttiest scheme.

People Find The Time To Be Alone

The need for solitude isn't anything new in this world. Sometimes a person needs to get away from all the tension of life and find a place to relax and think. Time to be one-self is a very precious possession.

The school isn't a separate part of life. There are similar problems and moments of stress present in a school day. Time can get awfully precious especially during final exams and tourney season. Yet, students are able to find time to be alone: a stroll in the park, sitting down and talking to a close friend about life, just watching other people and wondering why.

A student body must be lively and yet, as one poster states: "Make a niche for silence in your life or your life will be filled with noise rather than meaning." A person has to be serious at times or he will find no meaning in life or anything he sets out to do. A person who follows the crowd will soon find himself lost, with no idea of what he wants in life. Realizing this, many students find the time to be alone and decide what life is and what they want from life.

Every year CHS has the opportunity to adopt two foreign students for the entire school year. This year CHS had the chance to grow to know Helen Rizouli of Greece, who was living with the family of Jeanine Lacy, and Fusae Narukawa from Japan, who lived with the family of Molly Klotz.

Both girls were very warm, eager people and a pleasure to know. They participated along with the student body, making CHS very proud to claim them as its students. They worked hard and were eager to learn, realizing the importance of an education.

As CHS received the two students this summer, it was also sending Jane Bettner and Zaiga Purins abroad.

Zaiga spent two months in a small town, Horsholam, Denmark. Though there were a few things that she had to get used to there, Zaiga found herself able to adapt and enjoy her stay.

Jane had no idea where she was going to be sent, but Norway was selected as her home for two months of her junior summer. Jane found that life was also different in Norway, but she enjoyed meeting new people and had many new experiences.

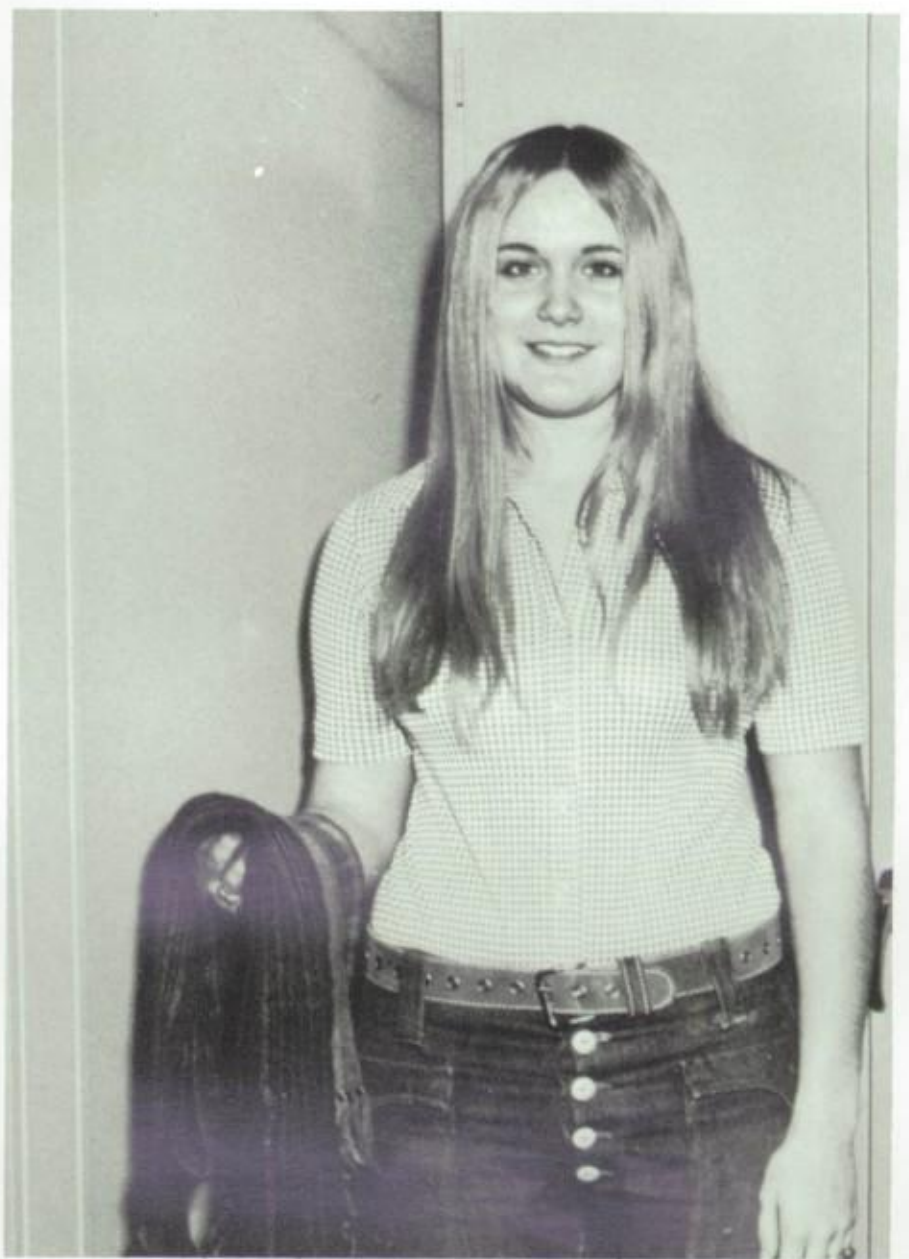

The foreign exchange program is supported by FORSCO and backed by adult members of the AFS and YFU programs.

And you people are so friendly that I'm very thankful to everyone of you," Fusae Narukawa. FAR LEFT BOTTOM: "I wanted and I decided to come in America, for I wanted to know other people, other customs and new experiences... America schools are so different from the Greek! American kids have the opportunity to do and to learn so many other things except to study and I think that is very good for them," Helen Rizouli. LEFT TOP: Jane Bettner shows films of her experiences and travels in Norway to service and social clubs. ABOVE: Zaiga Purins displays scarves which she learned to weave during her stay in Denmark. LEFT: Many students stop and buy food at the FORSCO Food Sale. Helping Others Creates Pleasure For Many People

Life instantly became brighter when someone was around to listen and to help. The world would have been a very lonely place without friends. This desire to help other people was very much present at CHS. Individuals gave up independent study time to student teach at the junior high in the history and science departments. They graded papers and tutored a few of the pupils. A drug seminar also was made up of several groups of seniors who visited in all of the grade schools in an effort to give the youngsters a better understanding of drugs. Offering services was not only school oriented, quite a few students found joy teaching at the Salvation Army Center and Westminster House and working as candy-stripers at the hospital. Many individuals also found satisfaction in participating in church activities that benefited the community.

When a person offered his services to another, he not only discovered self-satisfaction but made life easier for someone else. Whether it was working at a nursing home or just donating time to help a friend out, life was brighter with the help of friends who were willing to listen, or simply be around for companionship.

RIGHT TOP: If someone has a problem, he need not feel alone. Every night of the week, from five to ten o'clock, there is somebody who will listen to his troubles. An action office called RAP has been set up at Henry County Hospital. At least one of the eight high school students, such as Mike Phares, is at work, ready to listen to anyone who has a problem. RIGHT BOTTOM: Sandra Wright and Dainty Tungate are two of eight individuals who donate their time to work as candy-stripers at the hospital. Convos, Special Events Add Color To School Year

The opening of the Bundy Auditorium not only added comfort, glamour, and professionalism to school programs, but also to the production of the spring musical.

The auditorium opened in November and it quickly replaced the field-house as a convo center. The convocations ranged in their purposes. Some were annual programs, such as the one sponsored by the Rosennial staff as a start of the subscription drive. Achievement Day, held in September, and Recognitions Day, in May, both honored students who had excelled academically. The Christmas Convo was presented as a joint effort of the music and English departments. Along with these were many new programs which varied from a presentation by an I.U. singing group, the Indiana Belles, to a 3-D travelogue by Robert Brouwer.

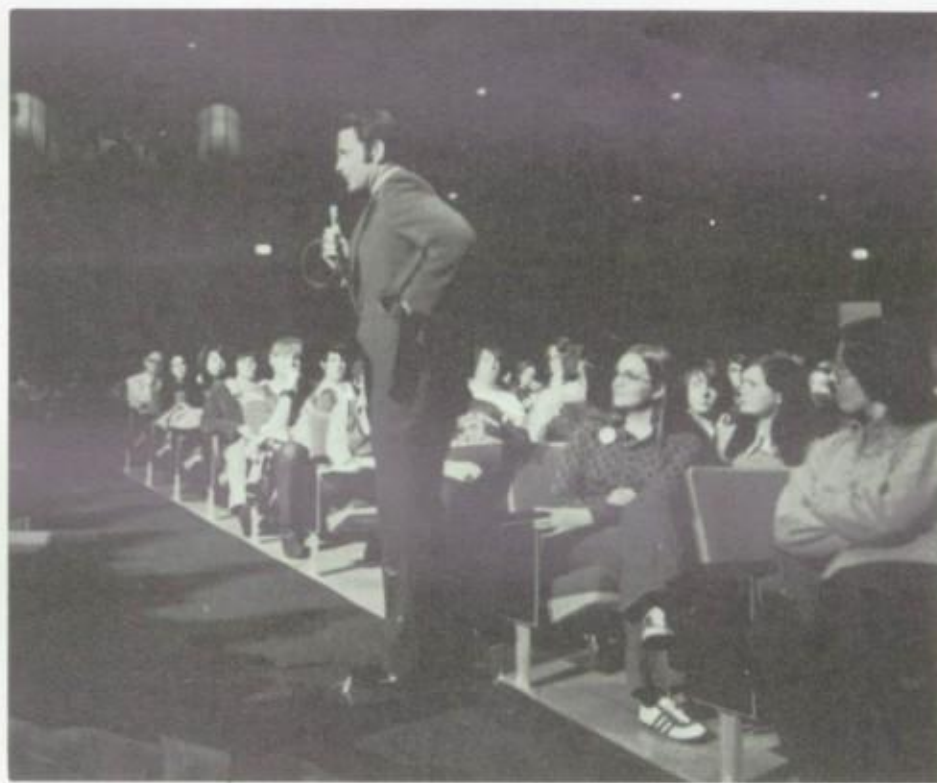

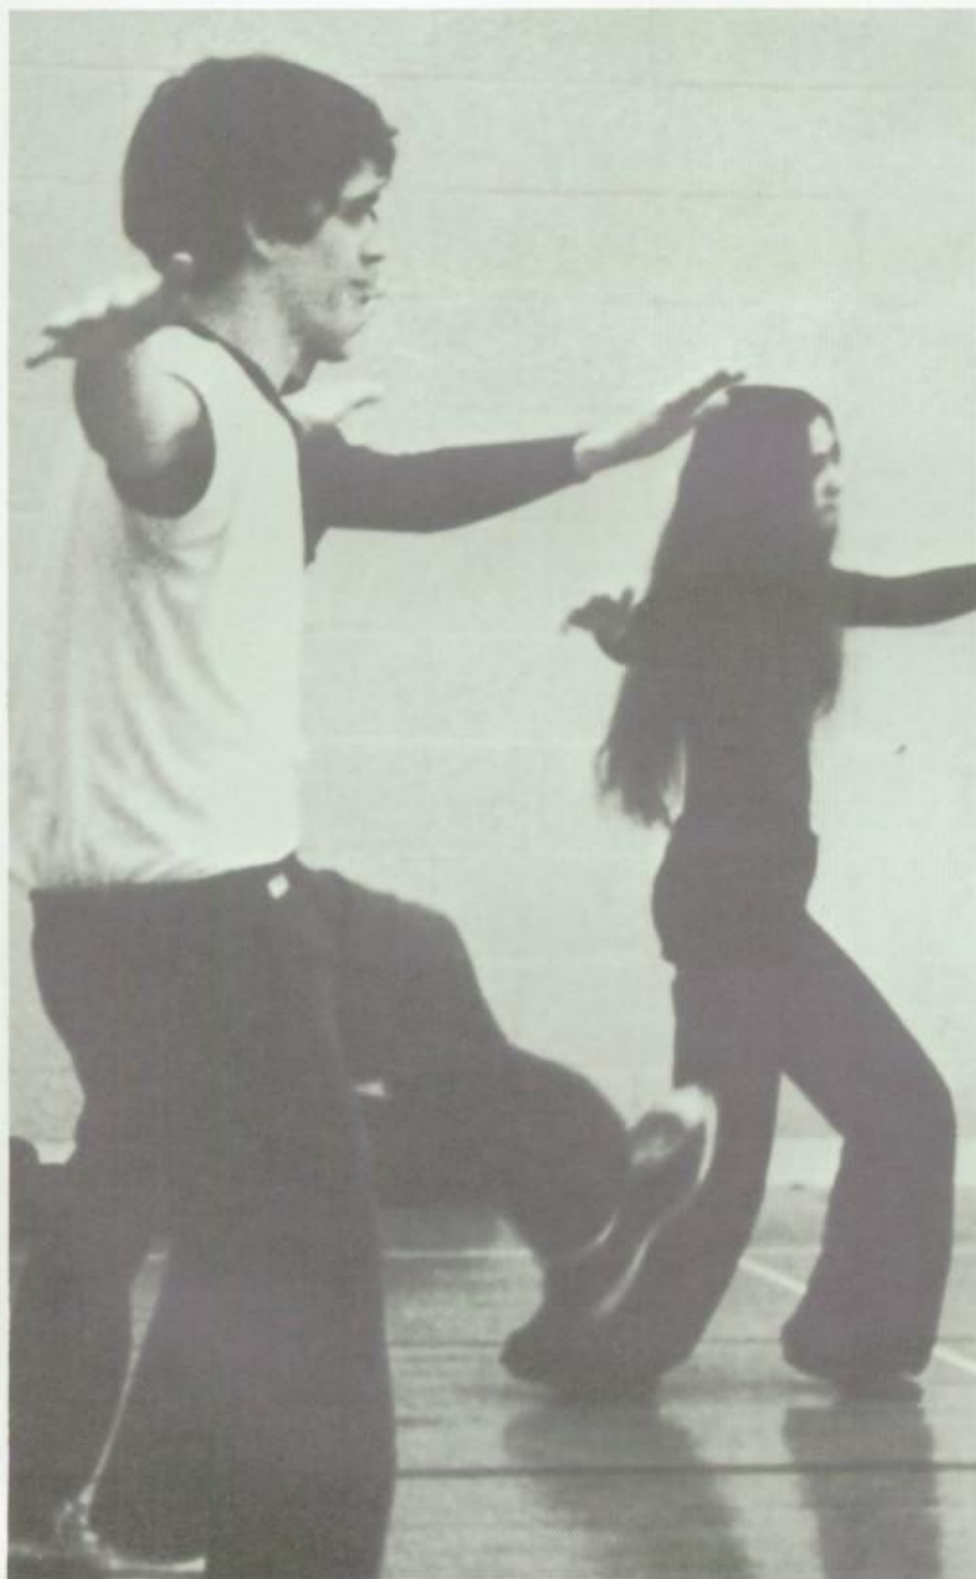

The auditorium also became the home of the year's musical, "The Boy Friend," written by Sandy Wilson. The play took place at a finishing school for young English ladies in the 1920's. Here, a young heiress, Polly, fell in love with a delivery boy, Tony, who eagerly returned her love. Involved romances, catchy songs, and a talented cast captivated the sell-out audience.

Spirit Of Victory Dwells Within School

FAR RIGHT BOTTOM: Students, led by enthusiastic cheerleaders, rally at a pep session to back their teams on to victory. FAR RIGHT: Several individuals work to film the Trojans for cable T.V. Four bus loads of CHSers backed their team to this victory. BELOW: Senior Barry Keith joins fellow CHSers in following the Trojans to out-of-town games on school fan buses.

Students were informed by Mr. Koger, pep session chairman, that a great green spirit had chosen CHS as its home. Within a few days, this spirit could be seen and felt as the football season opened. Students learned to respect their teams which never gave up the fight for a victory. Students met in Mr. Koger's room to paint posters to promote school morale. Individuals waited in line to buy and later to exchange their tickets to watch their teams play.

Throughout the entire year, CHSers were present to witness the achievements and the failures of their teams. Players could always find understanding after a loss and praise after a victory. The student body joined with the cheerblocks to sing "The Whole School" and "On New Castle", and were sometimes ready to massacre anyone who attempted to stand on the Trojan Head in the center of the basketball floor.

With the start of cable TV, it became possible for students and adults to see their teams in action on Channel 11. Nevertheless, many fans attempted to attend most out of town meets to cheer their teams on to a win. At times, morale might have been low; fans might have been critical; but when they were needed, CHSers were always there to lend support and to yell a little louder.

Students Need Time for Outside Enjoyment

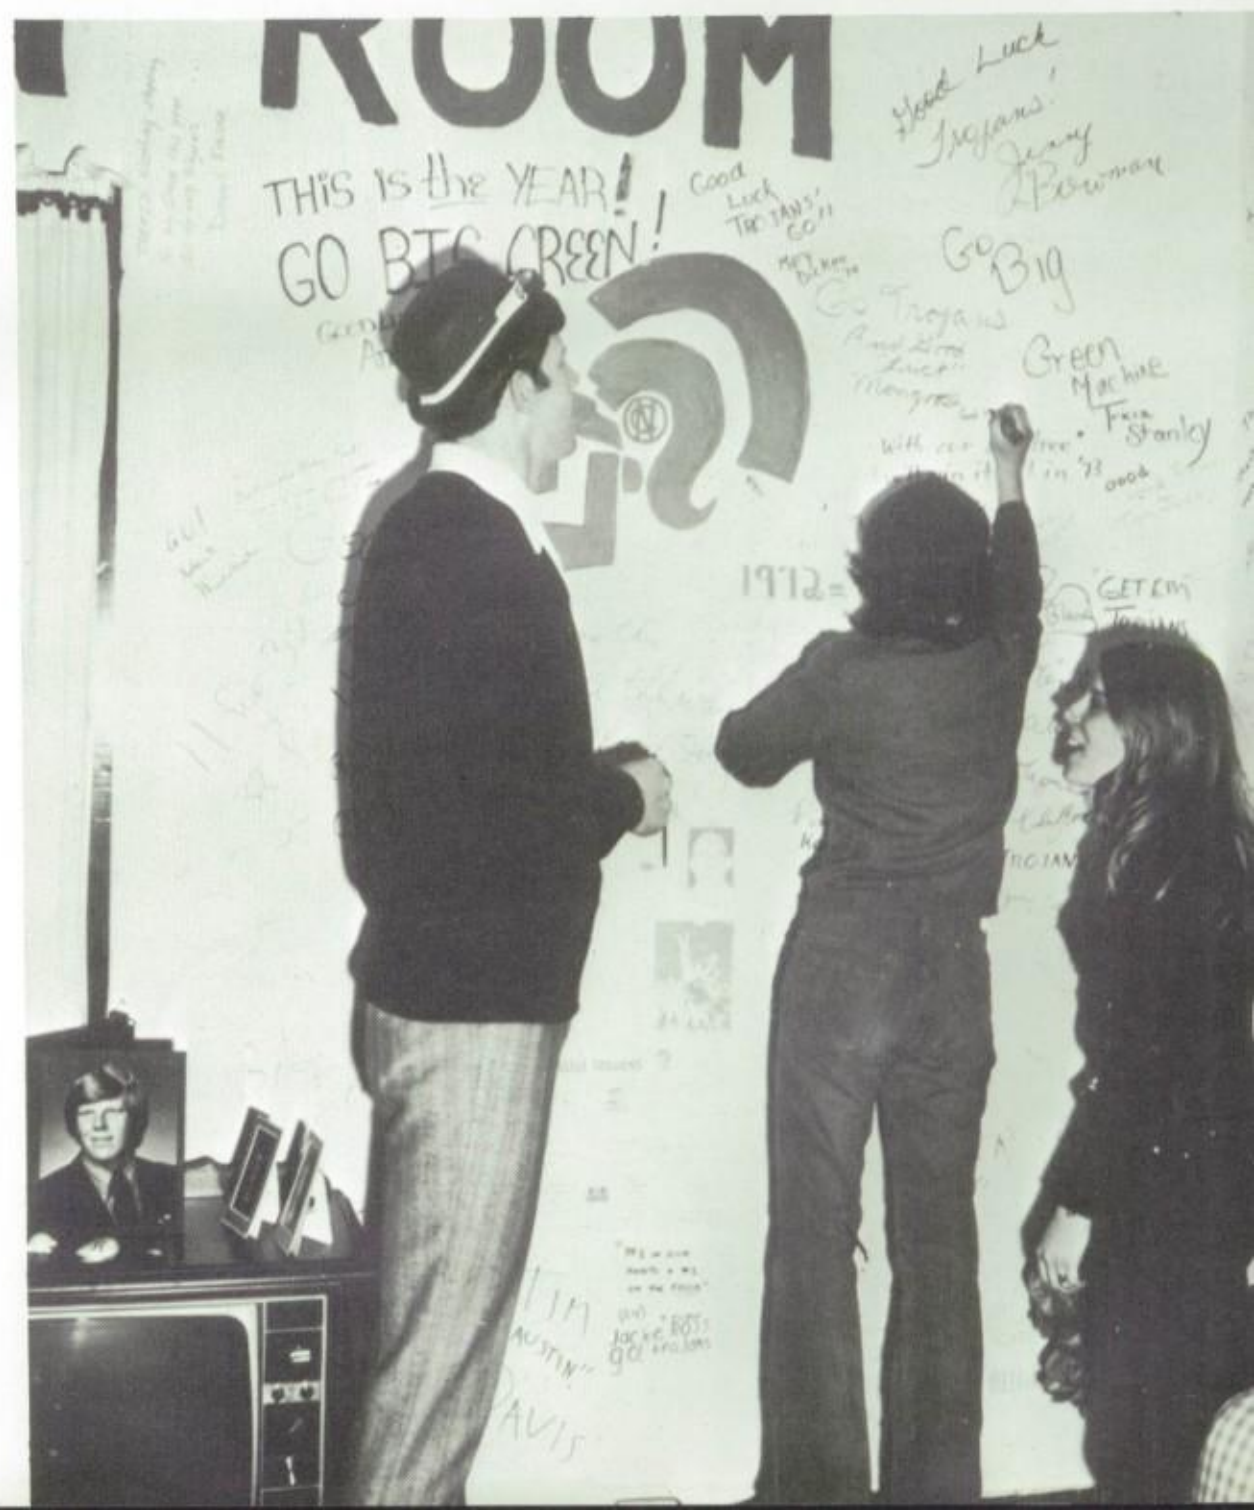

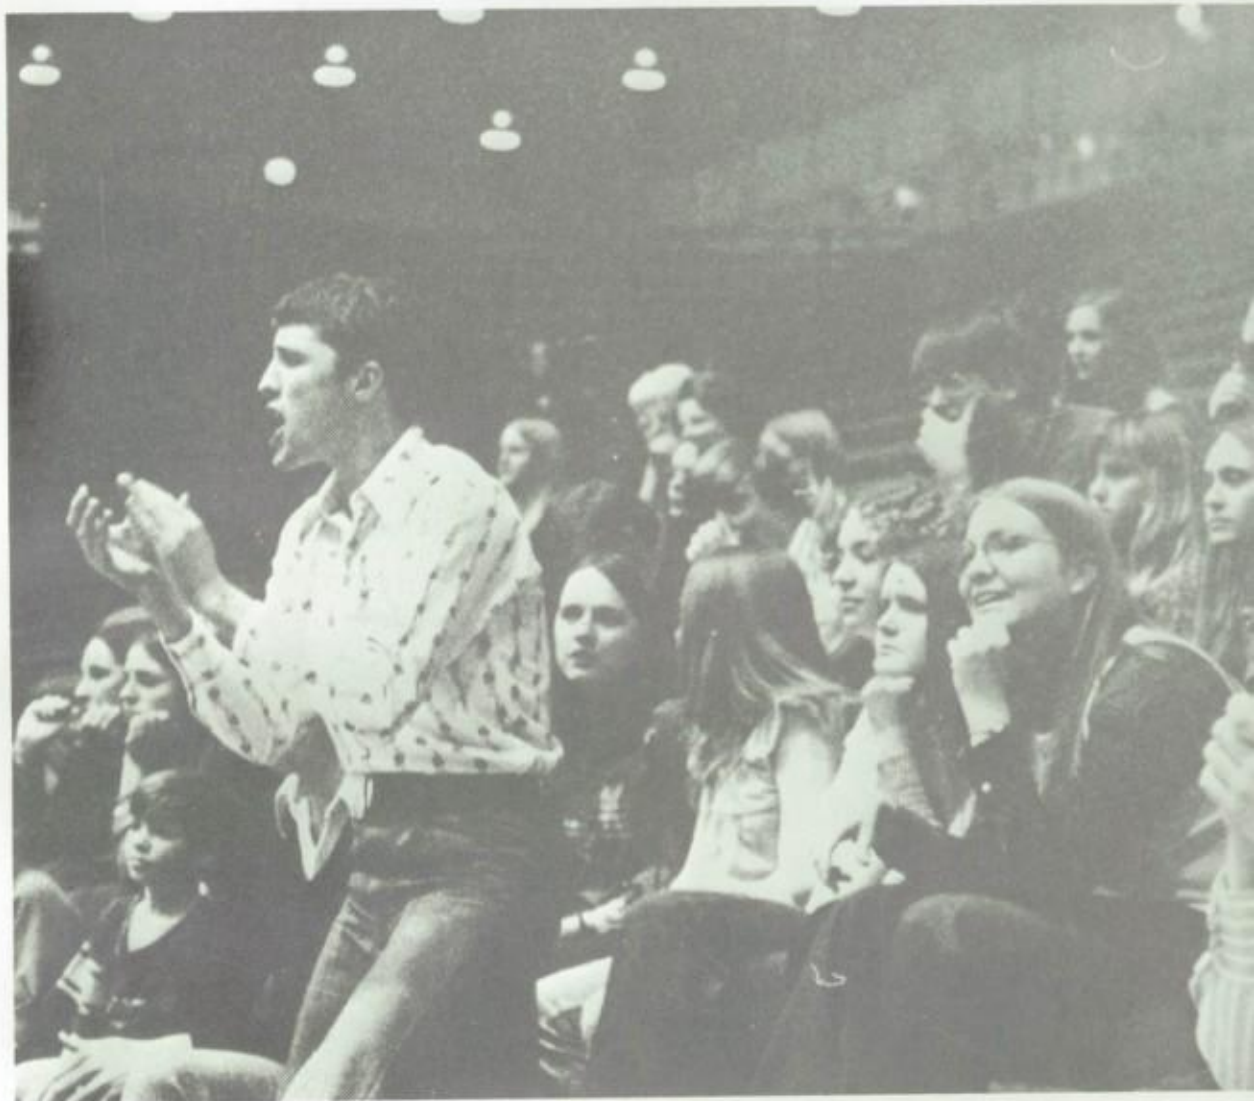

Spending over seven hours a day in school, students needed a time and a place to get away from academic work. New Castle, although small in comparison to many surrounding cities, offered quite a variety of activities. Some students took advantage of the available facilities which others preferred to complain.

Drive-in restaurants, the theater, and the drive-in movie offered opportunities to get away and relax, but many students chose to enjoy themselves in either Memorial or Baker Parks. In winter, Memorial Park provided three ponds for skating; and in summer picnics, baseball, boating, and tennis occupied students' spare time.

Basketball, a popular sport in New Castle, brought enjoyment for many students. All year, basketball courts at Baker Park were full, along with a few spectators in the bleachers.

Organizations, such as the Westminster House and Salvation Army, sponsored basketball teams for any interested boys. All games were not organized, though. Spontaneous football and soccer games sprang up throughout the city. Swimming facilities created opportunities for students to gather together and provided a place for students to get to know one another.

A student could find entertainment or recreation without searching deep. School-related activities helped students keep a busy social schedule. No matter what one was doing, the key was being where others were, getting to know others, and enjoying oneself.

Never before in the history of Chrysler High School have so many seniors excelled academically. A fall convocation recognized 58 students out of 400 for their academic achievement. Twenty-four seniors were awarded honor jackets with 34 others receiving crests.

Thirteen seniors, representing the various school interests, were selected as Optimist Honorees. April McKee and Chris Barr received honors when they were selected as Merit Scholarship finalists, placing them in the top two percent of the nation's seniors.

Senior Vespers provided a new and interesting concept. This year the Vespers program was set to music with the theme of "Turn, Turn, Turn."

Class Officers were chosen after a hard fought campaign with Chris Barr being elected president. Other officers were Bob Noble, vice-president; Don Hamilton, treasurer; and Sheryl Bolk, secretary. Under their direction, senior commons was opened to provide a place for study and enjoyment.

Graduates Achieve Success

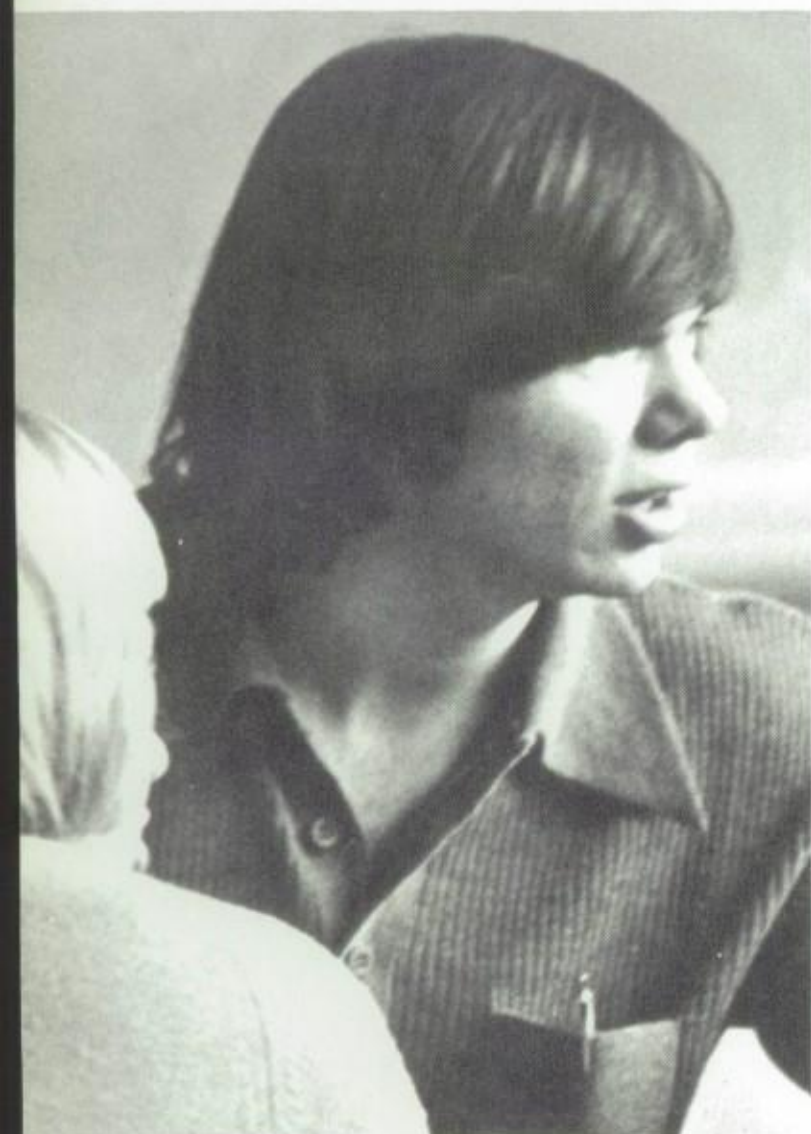

As graduation approached, Seniors found themselves recalling past experiences and anticipating the future. End of the year Senior activities brought these feelings to a peak. Early in May, Senior girls were entertained at May Breakfast. Later in the month, all Seniors were invited to a breakfast given at the high school cafeteria. The same day all students attended Recognitions Day, the last day in high school for Seniors. Graduation exercises began Sunday, June 3, with Baccalaureate. Commencement, the formal ceremony for receiving diplomas, was held June 6. Faces reflecting all the frustrations, joys, and experiences brought tears to the eyes of both parents and students. Night Club, ended the schedule of events for the seniors.

Juniors returned to CHS excited and ready for a new school year. The class of '74 seemed prepared for involvement into the activities of the school because of their sophomore experiences. They found positions in FORSCO, ROSENIAL, and the executive board of Student Council which had not been available to them the year before. Through clubs and sports they proved themselves worthy of attention.

The Juniors started their year off by re-electing Jeff Wadman as class president. Their other officers were John Foster, vice-president; Vicki Horn, treasurer; and Patti Jennings, secretary. These officers and the spirited students of the Class of '74 began work on Prom soon after the mid-winter dance.

As the year progressed, Juniors had to make a decision between college, vocational training, or jobs. Applications for state scholarships were due in the spring. Many Juniors chose to take SAT Tests, after the entire class had taken the PSAT in October.

Gary Wadman Leads Spirited Class Of 1975

The beginning of a three year stay at CHS found the Class of '75 bewildered but eager to join in every activity. New friendships and the end of junior high rivalries appeared as the sophomores united to choose class rings. The tradition of CHS became the blending element to mix the newcomers with juniors and seniors. Season tickets, independent study modules, and hall walking introduced the group of '75 to the routine of high school and they enjoyed it.

Having moved to the new junior high as ninth graders last year, they were experienced in learning new routines and they adjusted to the module system readily. The rest of CHS viewed the new group as a chance for fresh, new ideas, experiences and friendships.

An outstanding six win — two loss and one tie record highlighted the 1972 Cross-Country season for Wilbur Veach's harriers. In addition, the squad also placed second in the tough Richmond Sectional.

Junior Mark Neal proved to be top runner as he went undefeated in all dual and triangular meets, was runner-up in the Conference meet, and winner of the Sectional. He also set the school record of 12:54 for the two and one-half mile course.

Providing good team depth were juniors Terry Bowers and Lynn Perdue and seniors George Dickerson and Charlie Stairs. The remaining team members consisted of seniors Ric Johnson, Randy Polston, Chris Seigel, Don Bennett, Troy Hill, and two fine sophomores, Rondal Bertram and Tony Wright.

Strong Tennis Squad Defeats Seven Rivals

Completing a successful tennis season, Coach Vernon Johnson's netmen finished the year with a seven win, four loss record.

The Trojan netmen placed fourth in the powerful North Central Conference. The team concluded its conference and season play with an impressive victory over the Indians of Anderson. Coach Johnson's squad won the match by a decisive five to two margin. By defeating Anderson, the netmen improved their conference record to four wins and three losses. Besides defeating Anderson, New Castle posted 1972 conference victories over Kokomo, Logansport, and Muncie Central.

Formed around a nucleus of two seniors and two juniors, the squad was led by co-captains Robert Stine and Dobie Ham. The number one position was held by senior, returning letterman Robert Stine. He displayed excellent talent against tough foes and finished the season with eight wins and three losses. Senior letterman Dobie Ham and junior Tim Davis posted identical outstanding season records of nine wins and two losses. Jay Heck won six matches while losing only five to help the squad. Juniors Dan Tower and Mark Campbell also saw varsity action late in the season to help the team pull through needed points for the tough conference victories.

Football Team Scores Three Gridiron Victories

Under its new coaching staff, the 1972 varsity football team finished its year with a record of three wins and seven losses, greatly improving the record of last season. The coaching staff, made up of head coach Twyman Patterson, Calvin Duff, Vic Comparetto, Mike Merrill, and Sam Witherby, credited this great improvement to more team spirit and the winning attitude as a team.

The Trojan gridders were hindered early in the season due to mental errors, but soon corrected this to win several hard fought ball games. The high point of the season came with a 6-0 victory over conference foe Anderson, the first overtime contest to be played at Chrysler High School. Led capably the entire year by co-captains Chris Barr and Rick Purvis, the team also posted victories against Rushville and a tough Muncie South team.

Earning recognition for conference honors were Phil Selke, all-conference tackle, and Rick Purvis, all-conference linebacker. Making the honorable mention all-conference list were Chris Barr, Brad Kendall, Steve Lee, and Paul Burk. These honors were the result of hard work and determination.

Junior Varsity Gridders Gain Experience

Confronted with inexperience and a shortage of players, the Colts made the best of every situation. The junior varsity achieved a spirit of unity which aided the team's improvement as the encouraging season progressed. The limited number of squad members placed a bigger work load on each player.

Highlighting the Reserve season was their romping victory over Muncie Southside. The Colts had been beaten in their previous two games by a lone touchdown, but the squad displayed great team effort in defeating Southside by a 41-7 score. The gridders were never defeated by more than a seven point margin in any contest. The junior varsity team ended its season by battling Rushville to a 6-6 tie. The Colts finished with a 1-5 record.

Determined Matmen Break Three Year Losing Streak

Starting the season under new head coach Lance Rhodes, the Trojan grapplers wrestled to a two win and eight loss record. Dealing decisive victories over Connersville and Brookville, the matmen broke a long losing streak lasting since 1969. The team also finished sixth in the tough conference meet. Lacking depth in several weight classes, the team had to forfeit many points in meets throughout the season. This hurt the squad as many meets were decided by only a few points.

A hard fought third place finish in the sectional topped the year as senior co-captain David Cook finished first and sophomores Jim Barr and Mike Raines were runner-ups. All three were eliminated in rough regional competition but Cook's record was the best personal accomplishment in wrestling in the past five years at C.H.S.

Other team leaders on the varsity squad were seniors Phil Brown, Bob Alford, and co-captain Troy Hill; juniors Danny Ferguson and Rex Peckinpugh; and sophomores Jeff Frost and Gary Duncan. Providing additional help in several of the late season meets were freshmen matmen Allen Neal and Walt Turnbull.

Record-Setting Benson Finishes Trojan Career

The final chapter in the remarkable high school basketball career of Trojan super center Kent Benson, Indiana's "Mr. Basketball," ended this spring. The huge New Castle fieldhouse, for the last three years, was filled with the talented moves of 6 foot, 11 "Big Un."

Reaping the rewards of hours of self-disciplined practice, Kent rearranged many scorebooks with his accomplishments. His junior year brought the honor of being the leading scorer in the rugged North Central Conference. Benson's final season included his record setting single game performance of 55 points as well as a new single season record of 692 points and a career high of 1,496 points. The tall Trojan's jumping ability made it possible for him to break all previous rebounding marks, and his shooting percentage is New Castle's best to date.

Benson's ability attracted state and national recognition. Back-to-back membership on the All-North Central Conference team confirmed the red-head's rank among the top players in the state. Several sportscasters included Benson on their All-American teams and the selection of Kent to be one of five Americans to participate in the Albert Schweitzer International Youth Basketball Tournament played in Mannheim, Germany identified the "Big Un" as one of the nation's best. Recognized as the European Junior Championship, the tournament assembled eleven European teams and one squad of American youth late in April. His many hours of practice and sacrifice brought still greater glory on April 1 when it was announced that the Trojan is this year's Indiana Mr. Basketball, the coveted number one man on the state's All-Star team.

Tague's Trojans Take Sectional, Have 20-5 Year

With only one returning letterman, Coach Cecil Tague's 1973 Trojan edition collected poise and experience as they hustled to an illustrious 20-5 season record.

Being ranked among the top ten teams in the AP and UPI standings all year, the towering Trojans won much recognition. The season began with a 73-36 downing of Knightstown, for Coach Tague's 100th New Castle victory. Opening conference play, the quintet struggled to a 54-51 victory over NCC rival Richmond at Richmond. After dropping a close holiday tourney game to Anderson 65-69, the green and white clad boys outscored their next seven opponents. Falling in a close overtime conference battle, 61-62, at Lafayette, Tague's roundballers had to settle for a second-place tie in the North Central Conference.

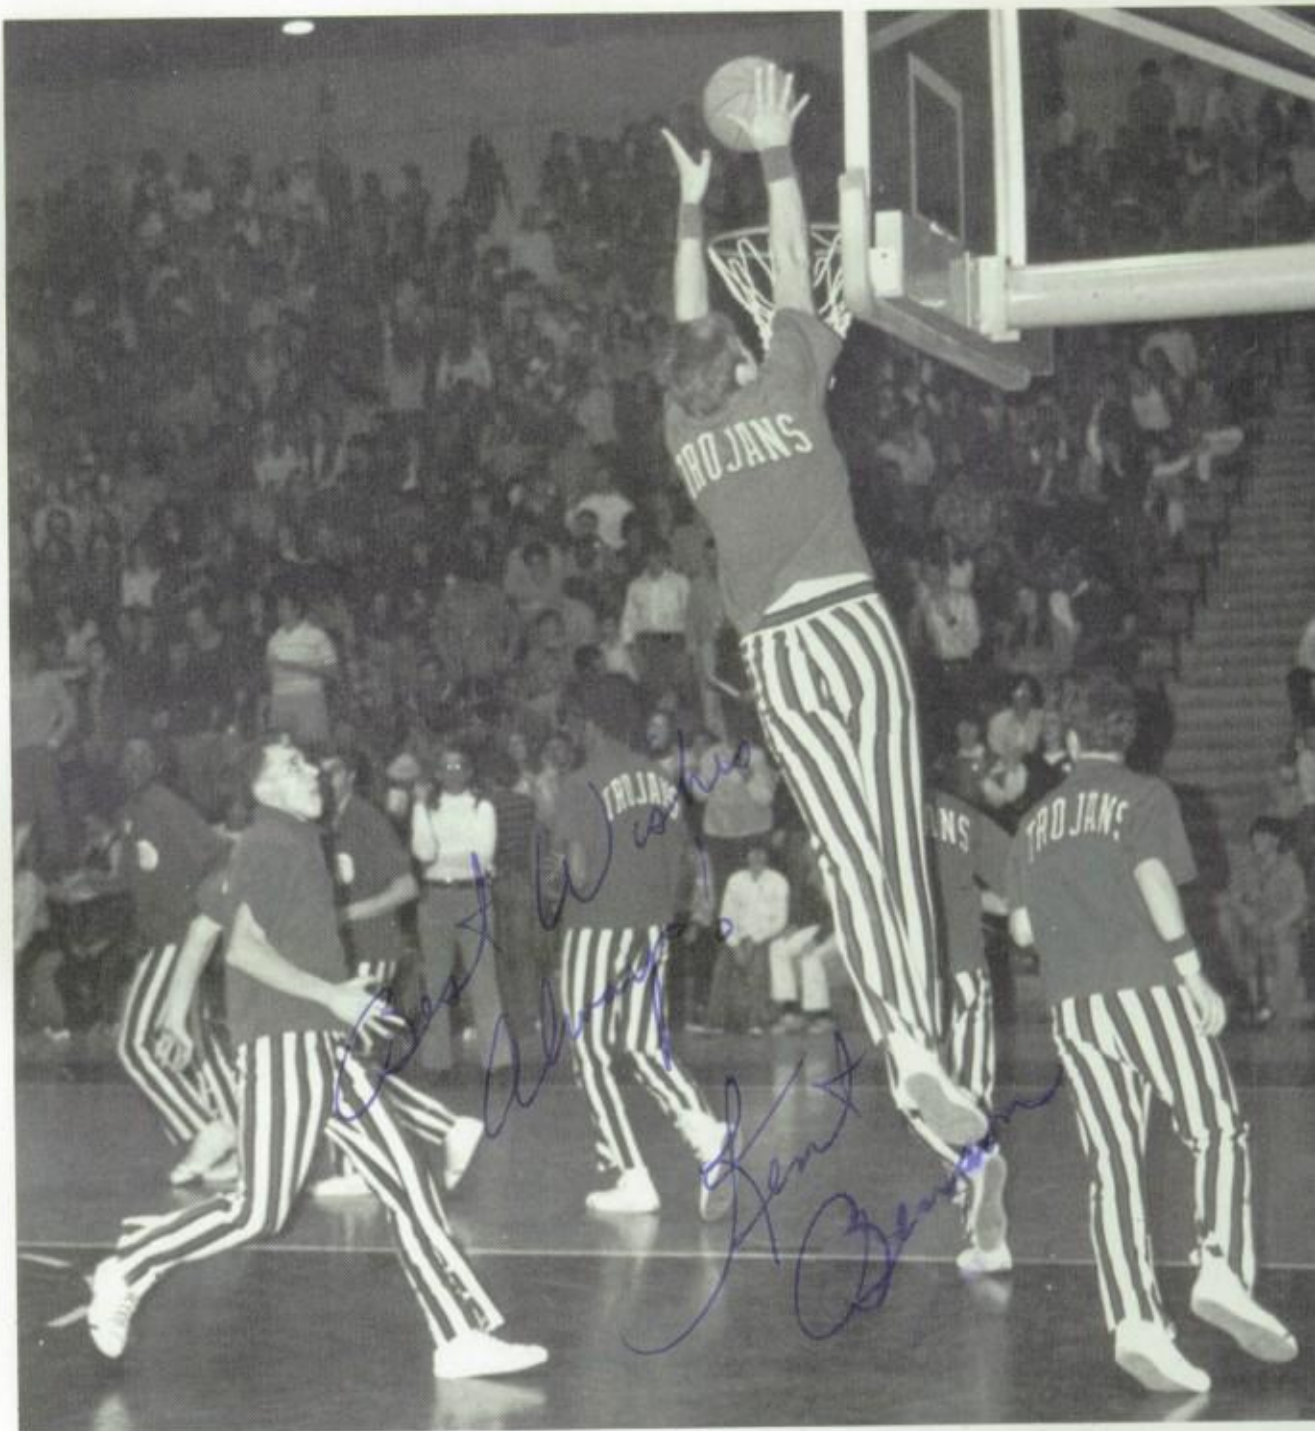

Strong personnel boosted the young team's accomplishments. Star senior Kent Benson was the only returning squad member. Junior Terry "Roscoe" Ross and Dennis Kinser rebounded exceptionally well and consistently poured in the points. Senior playmaker Bob Miller set the offense and played a main role in the success of the tight Trojan defense. Sophomore Bob Ballard moved up to assume varsity duties early in the year, filling the guard position well. Senior Vince McGrady and sophomore Bob Boyd came off the bench for many strong performances. Sophomore Mike Haynes gained attention for his fine outside shooting. Terry Bowers, Tom Fike, Dan Tower, and Jeff Dickerson completed their duties in true Trojan style.

The Trojans soundly defeated all their sectional opponents to take the title. The following week saw Tague's roundballers revenge a Yorktown loss the previous year, by trouncing the Tigers 73-37. Championship hopes faded away the following evening, however, as the Richmond Red Devils gained revenge to defeat the Trojans 59-52.

Meyer's Colts Conclude With Ten Victories

Building experience for future Trojan teams, Coach Larry Meyer's junior varsity concluded its season with a ten win, ten loss record.

Playing many come from behind ballgames, the Colts suffered five losses by margins of eight points or less. Winning their season opener by a sole point, the junior varsity roundballers proved victorious in the following two games as well. They lost their first overtime to Marion 39-44. Their next overtime challenge ended more successfully, as they defeated Muncie Central in a thriller, 49-47. This revenged an earlier loss to the same squad.

Working without many sophomores who were fulfilling varsity duties, Coach Larry Meyer permitted a large variety of players to see action. The young team, consisting of only two juniors and ten sophomores, was led by top scorer Tom Fike and junior forward Dan Tower.

New Facilities Bring Tankers Finest Season

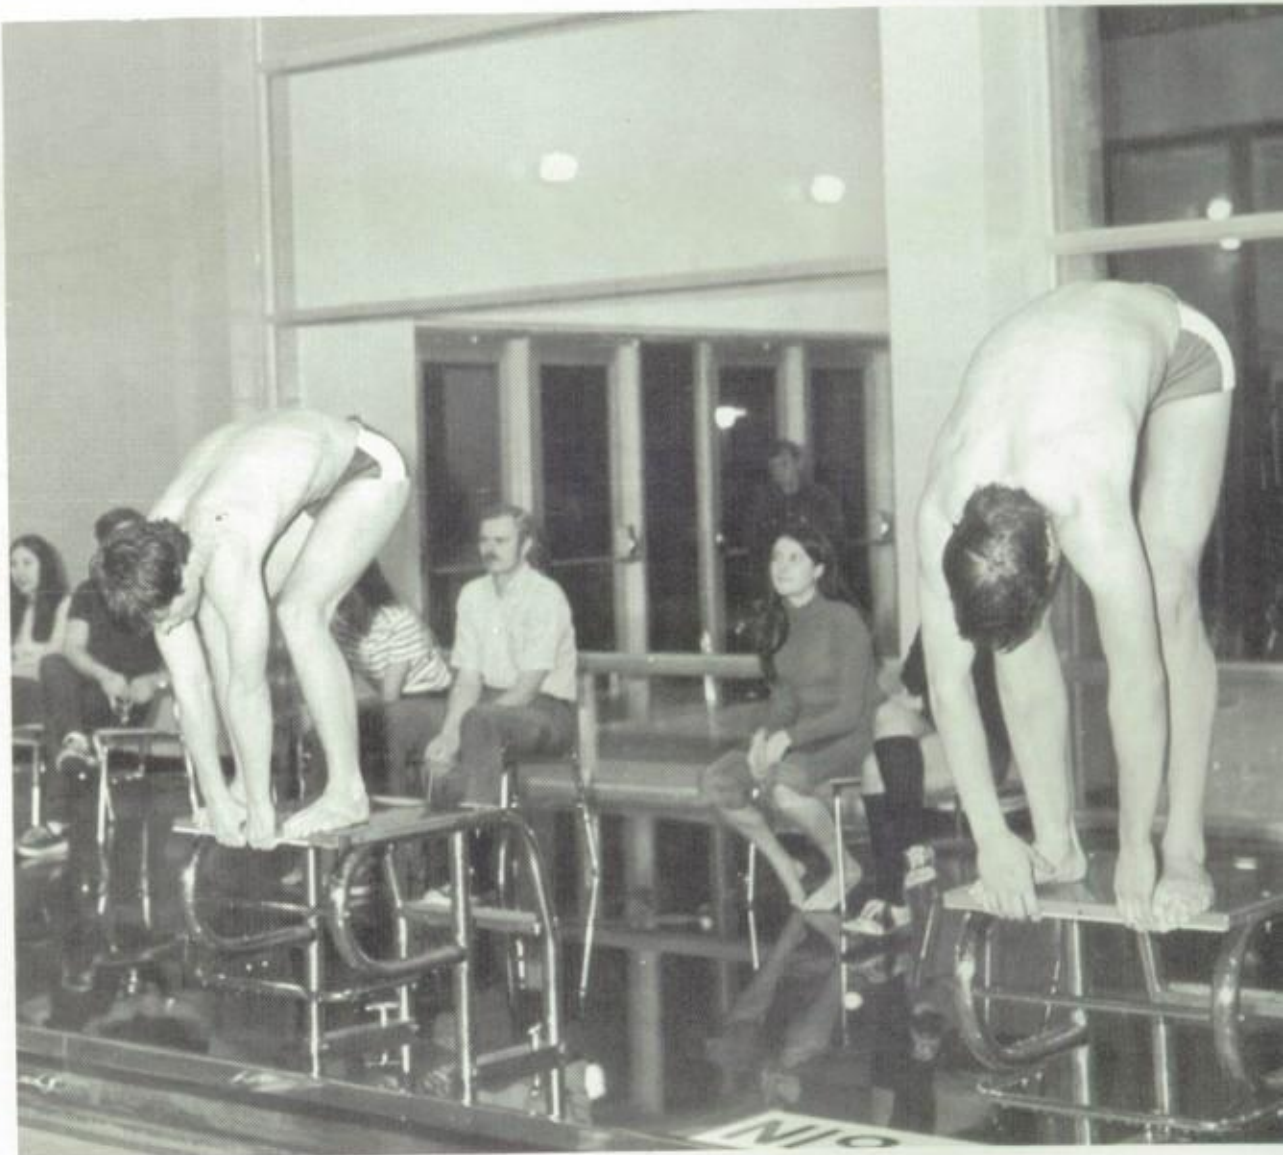

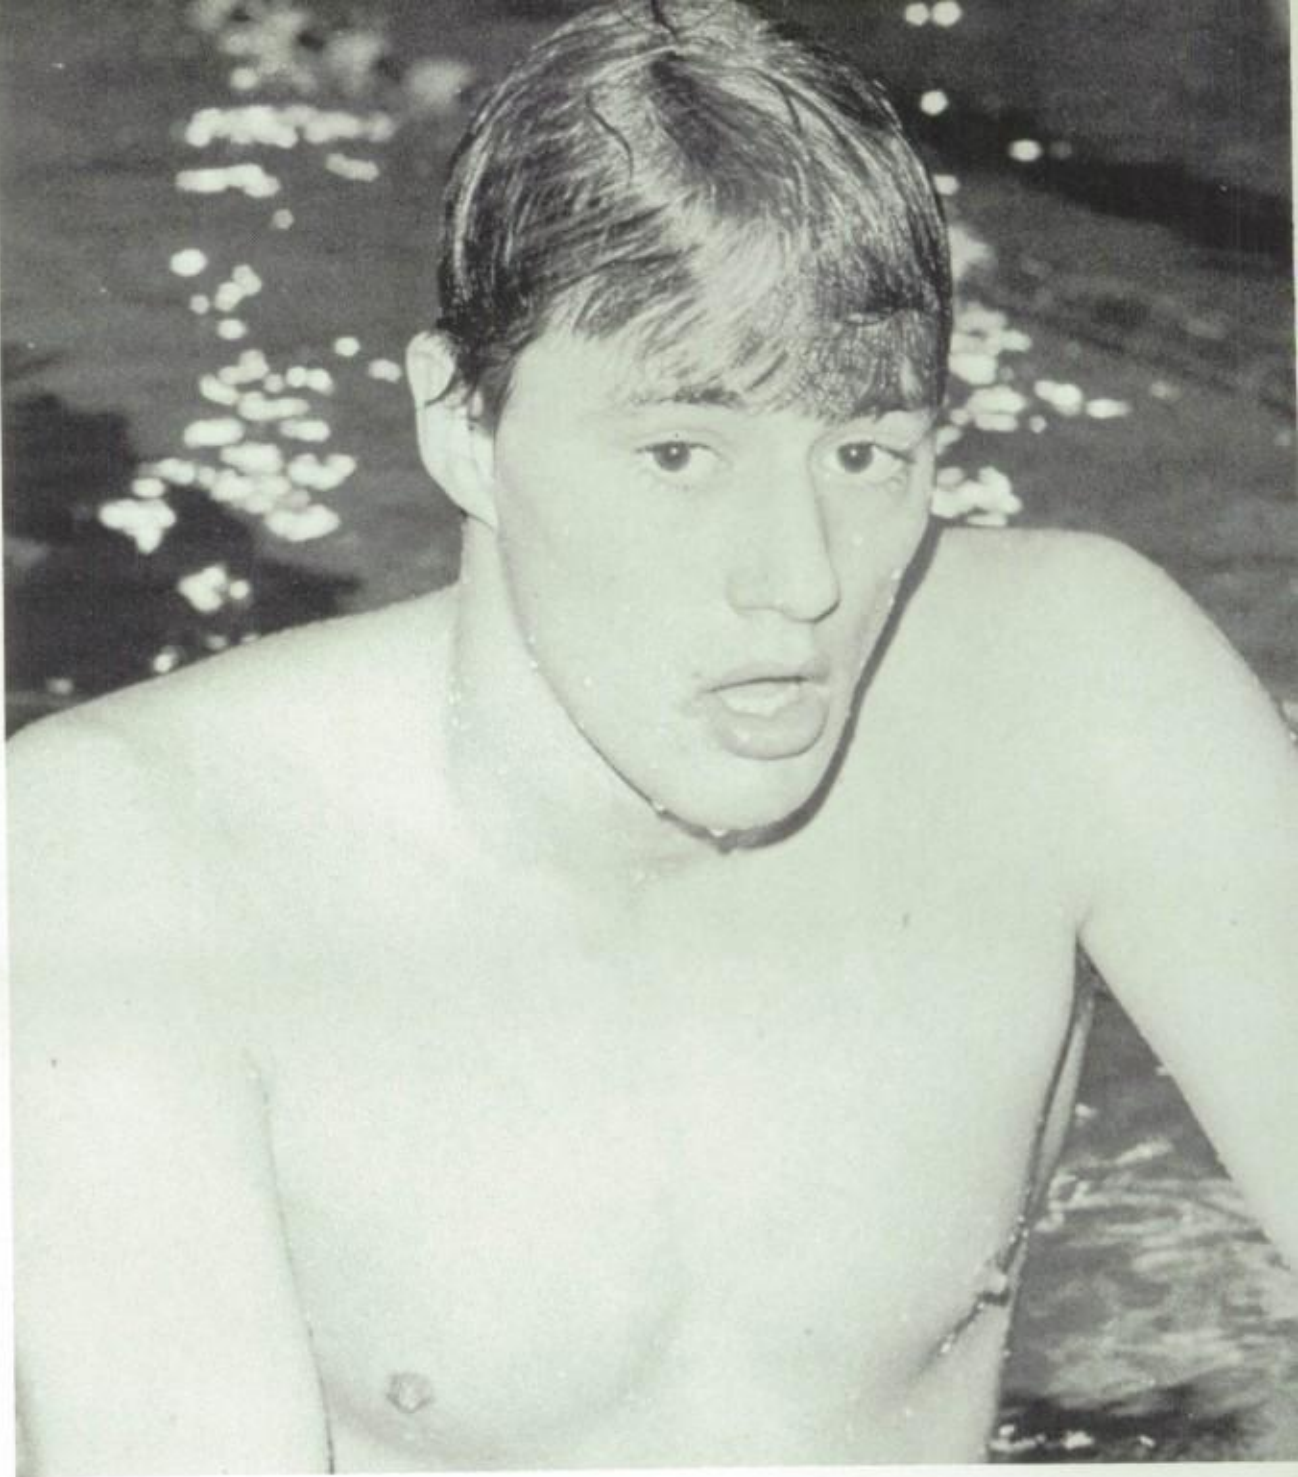

Having their own swimming facilities for the first year ever, the 1972-1973 swimming team stroked to a seven win, seven loss and one tie season. Being able to have practices after school for the first time, the Trojan tankers utilized the new Olympic size pool to its fullest capabilities.

Starting the season with a victory over Blackford, the wetheads set the pattern for a good season. Two tough defeats at the hands of Anderson and Muncie North gave the team more experience. The squad then took a fifth place in the NCC and a fourth place at the Connersville Invitational. Having gained needed experience, the tankers came back with three consecutive wins to end regular season competition. Going into sectional action, the team took eighth place.

Four year letter-winner Bruce Weeks was an outstanding swimmer the entire season in the 50 and 100 freestyle events. Weeks was a constant winner in both these events and won conference honors in both races. He also qualified for the state meet by winning the 100 freestyle in record time.

Leading the team throughout the season under the direction of Coach Williams were veteran swimmers Weeks and Chris Smith in the freestyle events, Rob Whittle in the backstroke, Bill Cunningham in the breaststroke, Kevin Keith in the butterfly, and the freestyle relay team of Stuart Owens, Tim Heck, Weeks, and Smith.

Triangular Meets; Five School Records Are Set

Although five school records were broken, the 1972 varsity track team concluded its season with a record of three and three in dual and triangular meets. The year was known for its outstanding individuals as the team was hindered by its lack of consistency. At the New Castle Invitational the thinlies captured second place behind Muncie South, but came back a single week later to narrowly defeat Muncie South in a decisive dual meet.

David Allen was the only thinlie to go undefeated in regular season competition. His technique in the shot put enabled him to gain Conference honors, win Sectional and Regional, while also setting a new school record at Noblesville.

The other school records re-set were by freshman Bobby Boyd in the 220 yard dash, Craig Wolfe in the low hurdles, sophomore Mark Neal in the 2-mile, and Randy Polston, Ray Forycki, Wolfe and Boyd in the 880-relay. With many returning lettermen, Coach Wilbur Veach had high hopes for next year's track team. Making up the team was a nucleus of experienced seniors and underclassman.

Young Golfers Experience 4-11 Rebuilding Year

Although starting its year with three victories, Coach Larry Meyer's golf team struggled through a 4-11 season. The team opened by defeating Blackford, Shenandoah, and Hagerstown and later gained a conference win over Muncie Central. The Trojan golf men failed to gain another victory all year as the young squad did not possess the experience and consistency of a winning team.

The North Central Conference meet at Logansport proved disappointing for the five golfers. The quintet finished seventh in the conference competition. Tom Fike scored an 80 to lead the Trojan five.

The varsity golf squad consisted of four underclassmen and only one senior. Dan Caffoe headed the team with an 80 stroke average. Senior Gary Thornhill played second man on the squad. Steve Kern, David Macer, and Tom Fike alternated among the remaining three positions.

Capturing the 1972 IHSAA sectional crown highlighted the victorious season for the Trojan varsity baseball team. Coach Rex Brooks' Trojan nine posted a 15-9 record during a rough but successful year.

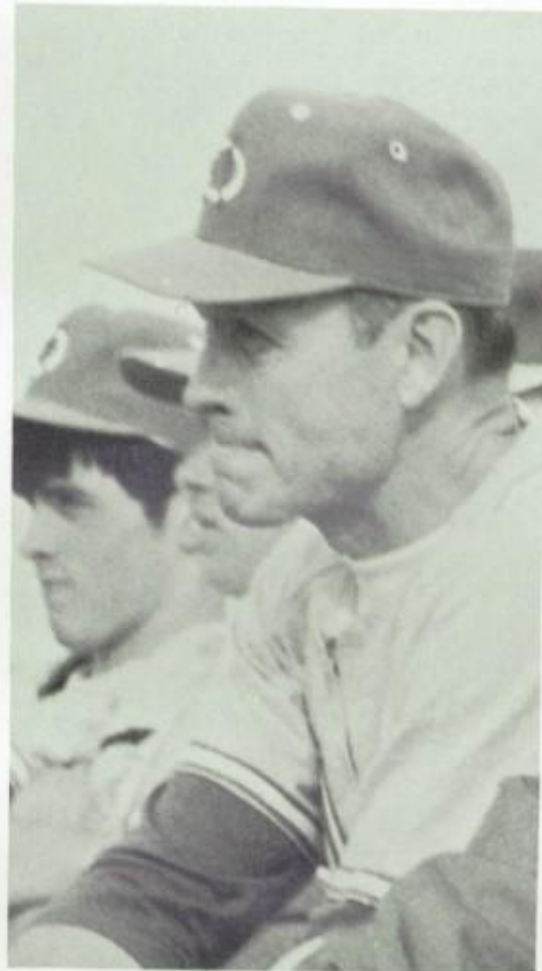

Throughout the season, the Troy boys faced many tough competitors. The Trojan nine started their play in the rough North Central Conference by defeating Richmond and Anderson. The team fell before its next NCC opponent but then returned to the victory column for its third NCC win by defeating Marion. The experienced ability which the final four conference teams demonstrated left Coach Brooks' Trojans on the short end of those games.

The 1972 NCC All-Conference team included two Trojan basemen. David Griffin received first team honors for his excellent outfielding talents. Ken Campbell was included on the honorable mention team for his outstanding pitching ability.

Batmen Capture Seventeen Wins During Summer

During a summer highlighted by a record of 17 wins and only 4 setbacks, the summer league baseball program ended a season providing ample playing time to many underclassmen baseballers. The addition of two new league members, Greenfield Central and Anderson brought the total number of teams in league action to eight. This provided great rivalry between teams as many games were decided by only a few runs. League play ended in a tie between New Castle and Anderson with the Trojans losing in a hard fought one game play off, held at Cardinal Field.

Taking batting honors for the Trojans was Dave Griffin as he helped to bring many victories with his hitting and fielding talents. Keeping the opposition to a minimum of runs, pitchers Mike McWhorter and Keith Thompson handled all the primary pitching duties.

Offering any Chrysler High School boy the opportunity to play organized basketball, the Intramurals program gathered approximately 120 interested young men once a week to play ball for enjoyment.

The program, directed by Mr. Roscoe Rogers and Mr. Richard Hostetler, was divided into the National and American Leagues. Playing teams within their own 8-squad league, each team participated in six games during the regular season. Dickerson's team led the regular season standings with a 4-2 mark followed by Lovell 3-3, Selke 3-3, Clayborn 2-4, Wadman 2-4, Heilman 1-5, Schlehuser 1-5, and Richards 0-6. Heck led the American League standings with a 6-0 mark, Kendall recording a 5-1 mark, Burk 4-2, Purvis 4-2, Turnbull 3-3, Griffin 2-4, Keith 1-5, and Neal 1-5.

Close tournament contests prompted thrills and excitement. Jay Heck's team representing the American League and Phil Selke's National League contenders collided in the championship game. Captain Selke poured in 29 points to lead his squad to a spectacular 44-43 victory.

Seven Girls' Teams Compile Outstanding Records

Girl's sports have encouraged many young athletes to set aside their individuality and to unite for team success. A new ruling which allows freshmen eligibility increased the number of girls vying for a position on an interscholastic team. The sweet taste of victory came to pass many times throughout the 1972 softball, tennis, track, and volleyball season.

Outscoring their opponent in the runs column in five of seven outings, Mrs. Carol Lewis' softball team demonstrated fine offensive ability. Blue River proved to be a tough opponent, but Mrs. Lewis' nine pulled out an impressive 12-11 win. The young team overpowered their foes offensively to finish with five wins against two setbacks.

Finishing on top at the district contest, Miss Gloria Castelluccio's track team raced to a 4-3 overall mark. The female track and field team downed Eastern Hancock and placed on top of two three-way meets, in addition to reigning number one in the point standings at the fourteen team district meet. Advancing to the regional meet, the girls ran to a second place position among 23 other participating schools.

For the third consecutive year, the girls' tennis squad compiled an undefeated record. Mrs. Joy Jackson's team faced nine opponents and emerged the victor on every occasion. Three individuals equaled the record, as they finished with undefeated marks. Senior Susan Fowler and junior Kim Coffey posted 9-0 marks in singles play. Senior Ann Stairs finished her 1972 season undefeated, completing three years of tennis competition without a single loss. Junior Helen Steussy played number one, facing many tough foes.

Miss Linda Stairs' 1972 volleyball team won eight games and fell to defeat in only two. Good defense resulted in success as the team downed a powerful Rushville foe. The well-rounded group stayed alive until the final round of the sectional, falling in three games to Pendleton. The promising B-team also experienced a successful year, winning seven contests and losing only three games.

Swimmers And Gymnasts Join In Competition

Widening the horizons of the girls' sports programs, gymnastics and swimming were new additions to the girls' slate. The girls' basketball teams set a new mark, as well as recording their first undefeated season. The 1972-1973 girls' basketball squad, under the direction of new head coach Miss Linda Stairs, outplayed eleven opponents to complete an undefeated season. The team displayed fine ball-handling, strong rebounding and consistent shooting which left the contenders far behind on the scoreboard. Following the same good patterns of play, the junior varsity kept a clean slate, winning nine without a loss.

Splashing in the water of the beautiful new swimming pool, the girls' swim team raced to a 3-3 season mark. The girls began their swimming era with a victory over Yorktown. Swimming in home territory the following week, the swimmers drowned Muncie Southside 107-7. Combining speed and consistency, the girls, under the direction of Mrs. Vicki Vaughn and Mrs. Ginny Fike, enjoyed an admirable opening season.

Poise, grace, and co-ordination were tools of the girls' gymnastics team in its first competitive season. Working on new equipment in the gymnastics room at Parkview Junior High, the young team perfected routines for the balance beam, vaulting, uneven parallel bars, and free exercise. Senior Terri Hayes' graceful performances won many firsts in both vaulting and uneven parallel competition. Under the coaching of Miss Rae Ferriell, the team defeated Hagerstown in the opening meet of the season, and continued this success to finish with a fine 4-4 record. The season concluded with tournament action in which Terri Hayes, Jara Masters, and Sharon Porter qualified for regional competition with their polished routines.

Spirited Cheerleaders Kindle Green Victory Flame;

For the entire student body, the 1972-73 athletic year will long be remembered as a year filled with all the bitter sorrows of defeat and the sweet joys of victory. The enthusiasm and complete support of the Trojan athletes was the great responsibility of senior cheerleaders Judie Bates, Jenny Bowman, Kay Green, Amy Larrison, Tricia Stanley, and junior Lindy Teel. Boosting the Colts on to victory were juniors Mary Dicken and Julie Hutson, and sophomores Sandy Bell and Greta Morris. Miss Gloria Castelluccio and Mrs. Shirley Smalley served as cheerleader sponsors as they helped prepare and perfect yells.

The task of scheduling athletic events for nine boys' sports and seven girls' sports, buying needed equipment, maintaining the files on eligible athletes, and efficiently running a successful Athletic Department was the job of Athletic Director Frank Kovaleski. Horace Cook, Assistant Athletic Director, held the responsibilities of all ticket sales, the ordering of letter jackets and awards, and the handling of all insurance.

Urge Student Body to Support Outstanding Teams

JUDIE BATES feels that when the group works as a cheerleading unit they become closer to each other. Together they strive to do a better job, to gain support, and to urge the Trojans to another victory.

JENNY BOWMAN believes that the exciting and rewarding experience of cheerleading allows her to express herself and challenges her to build a spirit of unity within the student body, the teams, and the community.

KAY GREEN knows that she must join together with others to produce the best. She thoroughly enjoys the task of arousing spirited Trojan fans, whether it results in sweet victory or bitter defeat.

AMY LARRISON is proud of all Trojan teams and is very honored to represent these fine young athletes. She feels that the responsible job of cheerleading enables her to be a part of their success.

TRICIA STANLEY has found that one of the "biggest thrills" of cheerleading is seeing positive crowd involvement, and she works hard to keep the crowd active. Tricia takes great pride in being a part of a successful Trojan squad.

LINDY TEEL believes that motions speak louder than words, and cheerleading allows her to speak through motions. She feels that as a working squad their goal is to encourage Trojan teams to refuse defeat.

Ideas To Increase Involvement

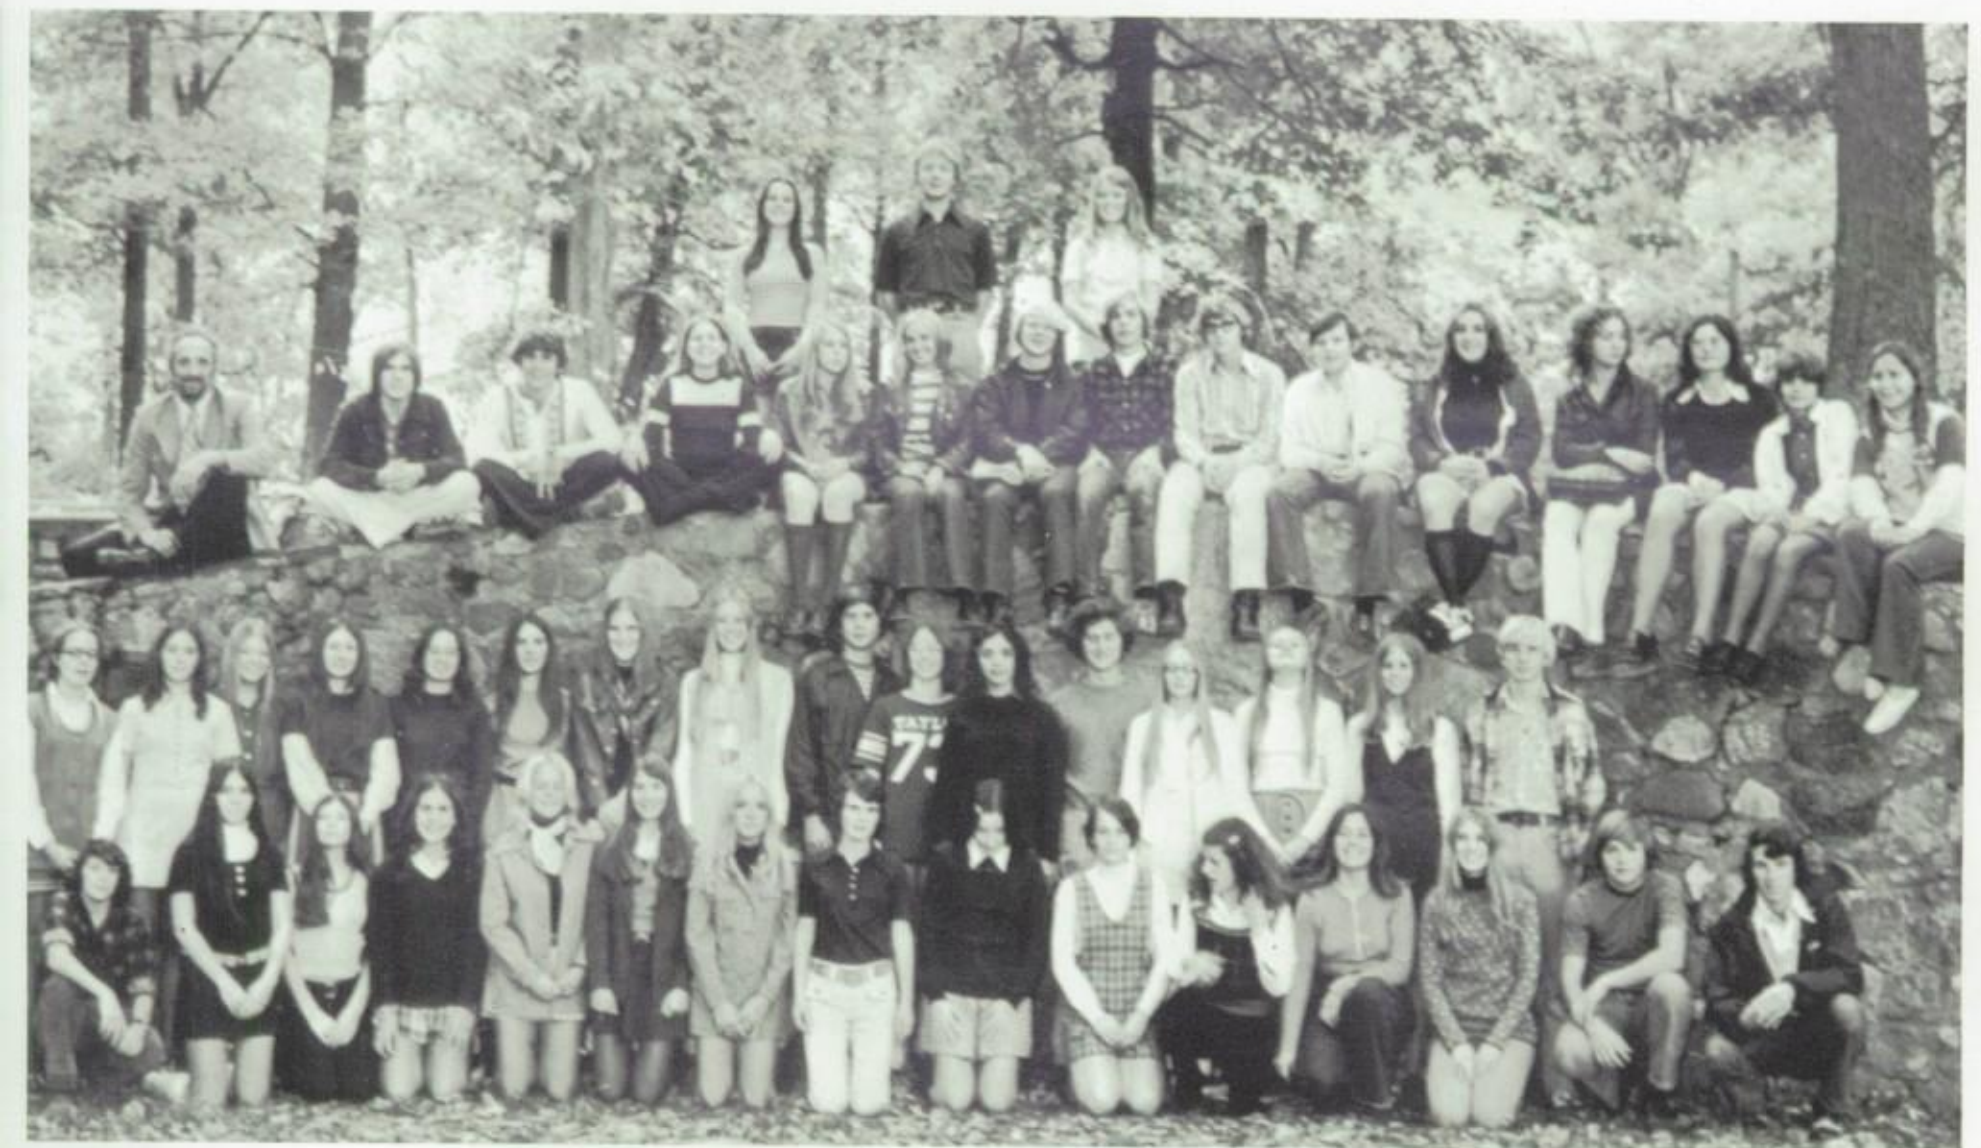

Renewal of the student body's faith in their Student Council was this year's long range goal. Student Council attempted to reach this objective by supporting and sponsoring numerous and varied activities.

These ranged from the School Improvement committee's colorful bulletin board decorations to Executive Board's sophomore orientation in the early fall. Morale's signs brightened the halls and boosted the teams. Student-teacher relations' hosted an end-of-semester teacher banquet, and the annual mid-winter dance was held in the Girls' Gym on January 20. Christmas decorations and outdoor bulletin boards were also cared for by committees.

Striving for student relevancy, topics such as open campus and the merits of flexible scheduling were discussed at meetings.

FORSCO Greet's Fusae, Helen

An end-of-summer, country picnic was sponsored by FORSCO. This provided members and guests with the opportunity to become acquainted with the foreign students. The guests of honor were Helen Rizouli from Greece and Fusae Narukawa from Japan.

School fees and spending money for the foreign students were provided by FORSCO. To meet these bills, several money making projects were held. These included the foreign food sale, the AFS Christmas card sale, and tag day buttons.

A new sort of Foreign Student Day was held in April. Exchange students from Purdue, Ball State, and Indiana Universities, and from high schools all over Indiana came to CHS. They received a warm welcome at school and were then given a comprehensive tour of New Castle.

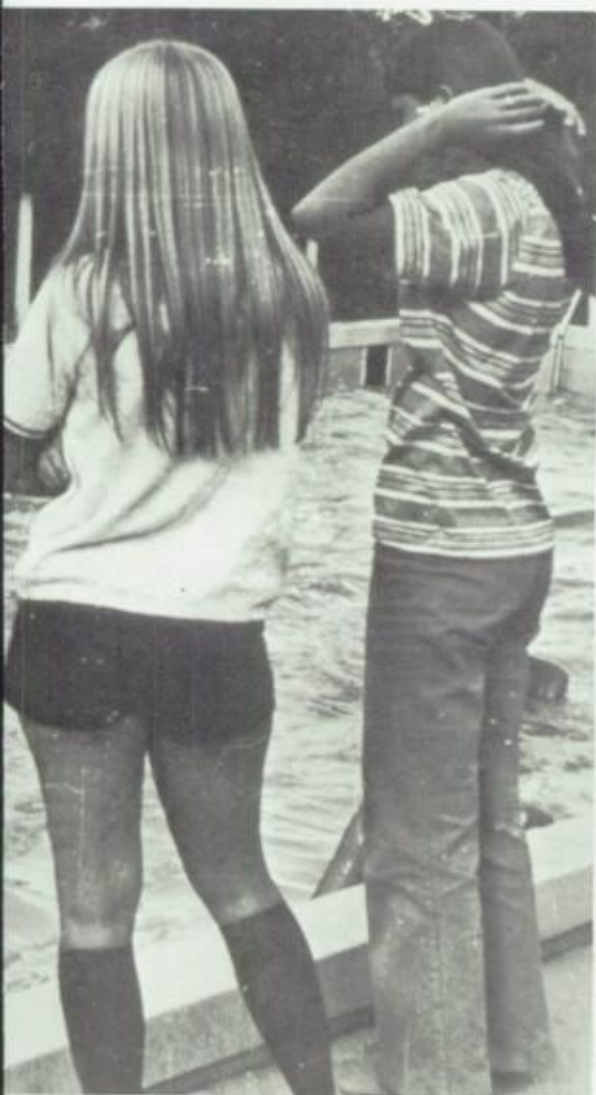

The officers were Mary Foster, president; Nancy Williams, vice-president; Jeanine Lacy, secretary; and Ann Stairs, treasurer. Mrs. Agnes Tabares was the new sponsor.

Making a pinata or polishing up on Spanish, members of the new Spanish club found they had no time for a siesta. La Tertulia gave members an opportunity to become more involved with the culture of Spain by means of club activities. At Taylor University's Spanish Day, members were given a chance to compete in verbal Spanish competition. Breaking of the pinata was the climax of La Tertulia's Christmas party. A service project gave the club an opportunity to celebrate Jose Marti Day, during which gifts were presented to the first child born on January 28 at the county hospital.

Honor Found in NHS Membership

Membership in National Honor Society is based upon scholarship, character, leadership, and service in the community. Selected by the faculty for membership were students from the junior and senior classes.

NHS brought responsibility to all members by participation in club activities. Following each grading session, the club was responsible for compiling the Honor Roll. The festive Christmas season had NHS'ers donating and decorating a tree for the school and holding a Toy Drive. Members sold stationery during Back to School Night. Perhaps the most impressive event of the club's year was the candlelight banquet that served as a reward to seniors and an initiation for incoming juniors.

First semester officers were Barry Keith, president; Nan Crowe, vice-president; Linda Hoke, secretary; Amy Larrison, treasurer.

Second semester officers were Nan Crowe, president; Stewart Turnbull, vice-president; Susie Sherman, secretary; April McKee, treasurer.

With nearly 300 people attending, FHA began its active year by being hostess to a District FHA meeting early in October. FHA sponsored the sale of Quick-Gel, used in preparing jelly. In May, awards were presented to members for their outstanding achievement.

Officers for this year were Pam Aaron, president, Cindy Brenner, vice-president; Markeeta Gideon, secretary and treasurer.

The national revived interests in the sport of chess seem to have had its effects on CHS. A record membership was established this year in Chess Club. Thirty-one members, utilizing their skills and efforts, tackled other teams in this mental game of combat. A club picnic was held in May to draw a close to an outstanding season.

Tom Creech was the president for Chess Club. John Carithers served as treasurer. Coaching the members were sponsors Mr. Akey, Mr. Grimes and Mr. Langford.

"Isne ad Saturnalia?" Roman girls, K. Hinshaw, L. Raines and S. McGee, discuss plans for the Saturnalia, a festival of Saturn.

Roman columns, racing chariots, and gladiator battles were a few of the common scenes viewed by members of a new club in the halls of CHS.

This club, which established itself among the ranks of CHS organizations this year, was a chapter of Junior Classical League. The objective of this organization was to bring the classical civilization of the past to light in the modern world.

Though JCL was new at CHS, it was not without exciting activities and great leadership. Promoting the installation of a JCL chapter at CHS was David Bow, a student at CHS and president of the state chapter of JCL. Highlighting the year was a Roman banquet. In a festive Roman setting, members portrayed citizens of a rich Roman community.

Officers were Brent Taylor, president; Tom Hamm, vice-president; Shawn McGee and John Wimmer, secretaries; and Karen Hinshaw, treasurer.

In its 22nd year, Bible Club sold cookies to buy new books for the school library and pins for its members. As a treat for the hard-working members, a Christmas party highlighted the year with enjoyment. Officers of Bible Club were Sharon Davidson, president; Shirley Hinton, vice-president; Julie Davis, secretary; Candy Walker, treasurer; Hobart Risley, sponsor.

Science Club sold tags for winter sports to raise money for a canoe trip this spring. They also cleaned up streams in the county. This year the club has restructured its constitution. Officers were David Coleman, president; Chuck Covey, vice-president; Shawn McGee, secretary-treasurer.

Talented Singers Strive For Ideal Performances

The Chorale rehearsed diligently for many performances such as Honor Day, the Christmas Convocation, Baccalaureate, Community Sing, Spring Concert, and most members participated in the musical.

Madrigals were this year's guest singers at the annual Martinsville High School Madrigal Feast. They performed for many civic groups all year and competed in the District and State Ensemble contests defending their perfect score of the previous year.

The Swing Choir was joined by the Girls' Trio in many of their modern musical numbers. They sang for the district meeting of Educational Secretaries in their first performance of the year and the first in the Bundy Auditorium, and presented a convocation for the Junior High. The group attended the State Contest, continuing their fine record of past years.

Newcomers this year were the Barbershop Quartet and the Girls' Trio. Both groups attended the State Contest.

In the second year of the Girls' Choir, the Belles, they were known for their gentle sound. This group entertained throughout the year, especially at Spring Sing.

Ensembles that earned a superior rating at State Contest were the Madrigal Singers, Swing Choir and Girls' Trio. Soloists were Diane Crisp, Julie Edwards, Sherry Kuhn, Maggie Seiffert, Theresa Niles, Vicki Horn, Marilyn Manis.

The band enjoyed a very busy, successful summer. The excitement of competition began with Delaware County Fair Marching Band Contest, marching at the Indiana State Fair, and winding up the season with the Ball State Homecoming Parade.

Raising their placement at the Delaware County Fair from third in previous years to second was a great honor. Even more of an achievement was the realization of the goal of all bands at the State Fair to reach the "Top 16". The excited band members returned in the evening to gain twelfth place.

These were the highlights of a very active year for the band. Wearing the new uniforms for the first time, they performed at football and basketball games. Concerts were held in the new Bundy Auditorium. The facilities of the new music suite were a treat to band members. They also participated in the state solo and ensemble contest as well as the state concert band contest in the spring.

Fifty-five "Talking Trojans" were recruited to represent Chrysler High's twenty-first year as an active participant in the National Forensic League of America.

Starting early, several NFL'ers attended a workshop at Manchester College during July. CHS hosted its eighteenth annual solo speech meet with 30 different schools involved. Two debate tournaments were held at Chrysler High.

Earning the highest NFL honor possible, juniors Edward Karp and David Bow were awarded the double ruby this year. They represent only the second and third individuals in CHS to ever achieve this honor during the junior year of high school.

Appreciating the switch to a sturdy stage underfoot, Thespian Troupe 1597 made the welcome move to the brand-new Bundy Auditorium. The budding actors met the challenge of a professional stage and technical equipment with professional productions.

The First play presented was "The Miser" by Moliere. It was a comedy of errors describing the adventures of an elderly miser, his two extravagant children, and their unlikely loves. The spring play was titled "The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail," which related the famous author's protest against the Mexican War.

The busy Thespians also enchanted local children with their delightful Children's Theater in affiliation with Tri Kappa Sorority. Troupe 1597 ended its active year by combining with the music department in presenting the musical comedy "The Boyfriend."

With the threat of deadlines seemingly always in the too near future, Rosennial's 26 devoted members worked relentlessly drawing layouts, writing body copy, taking pictures, and generally finishing enough spreads to complete the record-breaking 216 page book.

To pay for the extra pages, special effects, and a new style of cover design, Rosennial sold ads and sponsored dances. Members also had fun creating skits for the third annual Rosey convocation, officially opening the subscription drive.

The theme of "I am, me." reached to include every person at CHS. The book succeeded in portraying a small faction of students' existence, but it is left up to each student to decide exactly what his life is or will be.

The cover painting was dedicated to the old high school castle building which is to be torn down this year.

A group of dedicated students spent long hours in the printshop this year busily pasting up interesting and informative issues of The Phoenix. Cries of "The headliner's out again" and "What picture? Was I supposed to take a picture?" added to the confusion.

The Phoenix staff tried to become closer to the students this year with the addition of new columns and features; one of them being a cartoon, "The Fups," by Gary Tyner.

The staff also attempted to maintain high standards this year in keeping up with important events such as the flexible scheduling conflict and the drug investigation.

The Phoenix was honored at the Indiana High School Press Association Convention at Franklin College last fall for being a publication with over fifty years to its credit.

A new addition this year, SIGMA trained its members for health related occupations. They were employed in a variety of places; from doctors' offices and convalescent centers, to the pharmacy at the Henry County Hospital.

Members sold candy to raise money for a State Hospital party in March which resulted in fun for all. Activities also included tours of the State Hospital and Henry County Hospital, and a Career Day at Butler University. Many interesting speakers also added to their knowledge of medical careers.

Officers for the first year were Vicki Ferrell, president; Jackie Holder, vice-president; Michele Wyatt, secretary; Gail Raines, treasurer; and Donna Boggs, historian.

DECA Gives Opportunity Through Job Experience

Providing an opportunity for Senior members to gain experience, members of Distributive Education Clubs of America were given a chance to work afternoons at jobs which were closely related to future careers. The distributive education courses at CHS were utilized by county schools, too, as four students from Knightstown High School and Union High School enrolled in the program.

Members of DECA raised money by many projects. DECA joined other vocational clubs in the pre-Christmas candy sales. DECA combined with vocational programs in sponsoring exhibitions of the famed Harlem Globe Trotters and Roller Derby.

Highlighting the year was the sixth annual Employer-Employee Banquet in May at Hagerstown. This banquet was held in appreciation of training opportunities employers have given to CHS students.

Members of VICA "D" sold candy to raise money for field trips. The Building Trades group joined with machine shop and graphic arts to compose the largest group of VICA "D" in the history of the club at C. H. S.

For the first time, three county students, enrolled in the area vocational school, were club members.

Officers were Mike Rinberger, president; Mark Neal, vice-president; Larry Asberry, treasurer; Dale Ponsler, secretary; Jim Lowe, recorder; and Mike Tyner, parliamentarian.

OEA, willingly giving of its time, conducted several community service projects. Tabulating the high school contributions, OEA assisted the Community Fund Drive during October. December brought about ample use of typewriters as OEA members typed out approximately 400 business addresses for the March of Dimes.

Giving members a chance to demonstrate their selling ability, OEA also sponsored several money raising projects to pay for trips and contest registrations. OEA'ers sold photocubes, celestial bouquets, cokes at home basketball games and joined other vocational clubs in candy sales.

The end-of-the-year highlight was the sixth annual Employer-Employee Banquet held in May.

Officers for Senior OEA were Janet McLaughlin, president; Stan White, vice-president; Diana Groce, secretary; Phyllis Delon, treasurer; Kathy Patton, historian; Rose Murphy, parliamentarian. The sponsor was Mr. Cecil Powell.

Intensive Office Lab Offers In-Depth Preparation

A division of the Office Education program, Intensive Office Lab simulated office procedure in order for students to gain experience. The training was applied to the actual work done on the job. The students in the Intensive Office Lab and the Coop program formed the OEA club, part of the largest region in the state.

The members held candy sales and had concessions at the football and basketball games to raise funds for field trips, social activities, and general club expenses. Activities included the district leadership conference in October, to which Tina Kay Rudicil was the Regional Representative for the New Castle Area Vocational School. Also held in New Castle was the regional roller skating party.

Vocational Clubs Host Globetrotters, Roller Derby

I'll have to agree with you are one of the greatest teachers ever! Love ya, Donna McFee '73'

Enthusiastic fans came to the Fieldhouse from all over east central Indiana in January to see a roller derby contest and in December to watch the Harlem Globetrotters. A crowd of about 2,000 was on hand at both events to cheer the stars they had watched on TV.

Approximately $1,200 profit was earned by the high school's six vocational clubs which sponsored the two events; and they used the money for their employer — employee banquets, fieldtrips and conventions.

Making their first appearance in New Castle on December 18, the Harlem Globetrotters furnished entertainment with their stunts and basketball talents. The half-time show featured the Aquilars, Les Blue and Yvette, and the Monohans.

The Renegades surprised the Pioneers 60 to 55 for an upset roller derby win on January 16.

Whoever said that men make the best athletes certainly did not visit the Girls' Gym on the evenings the GAA girls met.

Women also have great skill and endurance as the GAA girls proved in various activities. In the fall a skating party was held. The girls later transformed the gym into a large bedroom holding a slumber party within it. At a spring GAA Awards Banquet, Ann Stairs, selected on the basis of attitude, attendance and sportsmanship, was named Honor Girl. Members with good attendance were given awards. Pins were given to first year members, letters for second year, trophies for third year members.

Officers for this year were Cathy Chambers, president; Ann Stairs, vice-president; Joyce Bolinger, treasurer; Patti Jennings, secretary.

Screaming their lungs out, jumping until they were exhausted and clapping with already red hands, the Girls' Cheerblock spent a typical evening at a home basketball game. Concern was also shown for the other school sports as members often attended wrestling meets to lend their spirited vocal support.

The Sadie-Hawkins Hoedown was a first time project this year that will be continued in future years to raise money. The original idea for the girl beg boy dance came from "Li'l Abner" but was modified with a talent contest and the crowning of a cornpone king. After the girls' votes were tallied, Tom McMullen was the proud recipient of the freshly shucked and glued cardboard corn crown.

Officers were Cheryl Clampitt, president; Linda Hoke, vice-president of skits; Cathy Chambers, vice-president of attendance; Susie Sherman, treasurer; Kim Coffey, secretary. The sponsor was Mrs. Carol Lewis.

Boys' Cheerblock Mixes Shouts With Victory Bells

Designing and constructing the Trojan Spirit Hoop for each home game was the responsibility of Boys' Cheerblock. Even though the hoops were shredded as the team entered the court, the colorful messages left the impression of their own visual spirit. Some of the creative captions were "Pulverize the Panthers," "Tie the Titans," and "The South Shall Fall Again."

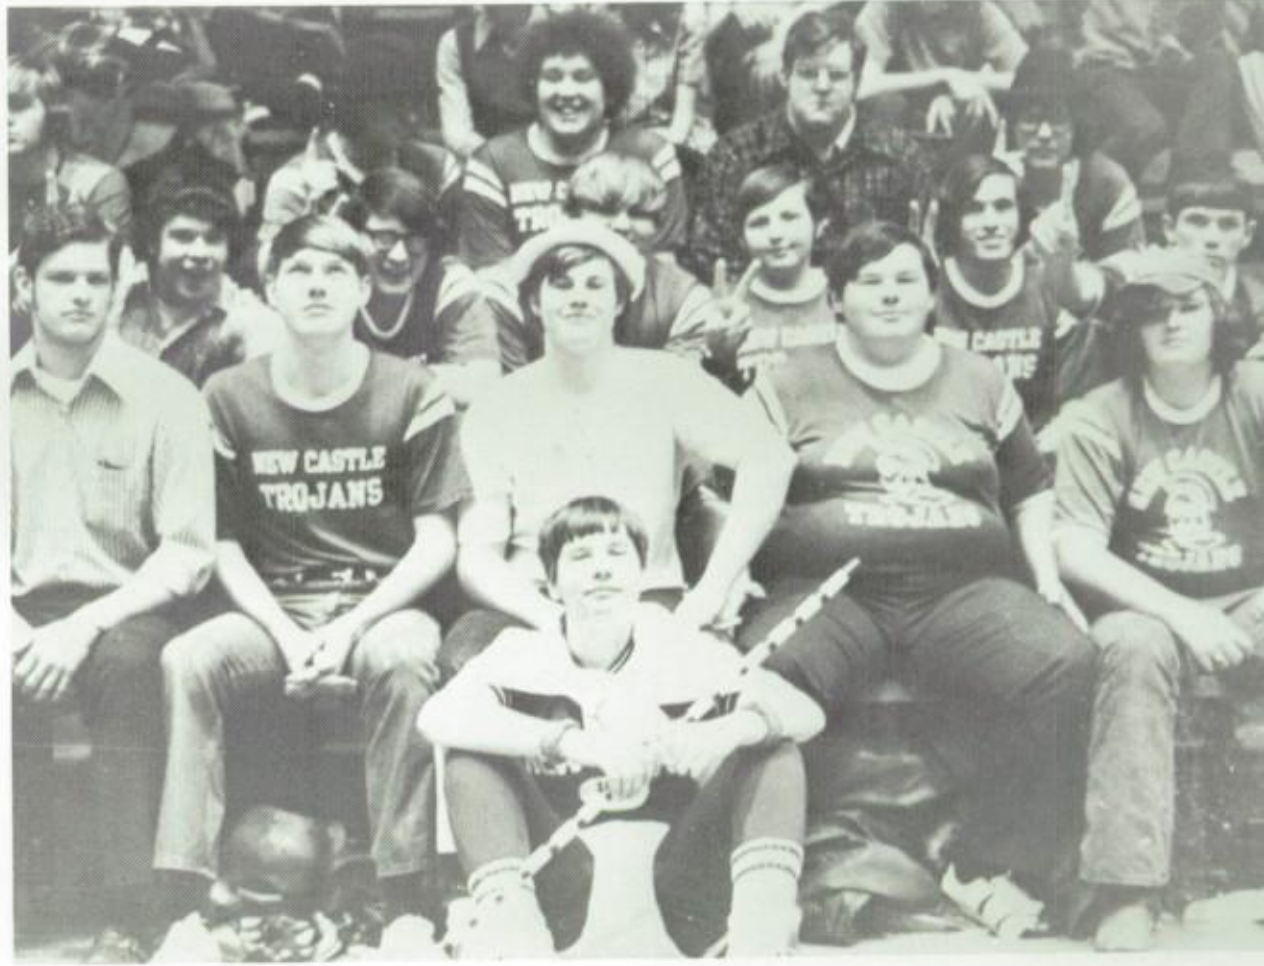

The members also created an original yell for each game. One of their favorites was "Horn and hoof, horn and hoof; hold the floor and raise the roof! Zizzle zazzle, zizzle zip; come on team, let'er rip!"

The Boys' Cheerblock wore green and white Trojan T-shirts and sold tags and buttons to raise money.

Officers were Gary Alexander, president and spirit man; Jeff McGee, secretary; and Dan Popejoy, treasurer. Mr. Rogers was sponsor.

FCA, Lettermen Market Toothbrushes And Preview

Hawking multi-color toothbrushes and Basketball Preview Magazines was the joint effort of FCA and Lettermen. The money earned was used to purchase equipment for the athletic department, donated to local charities, and helped to sponsor the Athlete of the Year to a summer conference.

Lettermen operated on a point system with emphasis placed on attendance. Points also were awarded for selling toothbrushes, sweeping the gym floor during basketball games, and bringing guests to meetings. For initiation, members were required to wear green beanies for a week and sing the school song. Officers were Kent Benson, president; Jay Heck, vice-president; Steve Lee, secretary; and Dobie Ham, treasurer.

FCA had huddle meetings once a month in various members' homes where they enjoyed a hearty meal and then discussed subjects which interested them. Plans also were made to invite well known athletes and coaches to come and speak to the group. FCA membership tripled from last year and was guided by Kent Benson, president; Terry Ross, captain-elect; Chris Barr, treasurer; and Rex Peckinpugh, secretary.

FACULDEMICS

Skits, Plays Beneficial To All Languages

The foreign language department underwent several changes this year with Mrs. Agnes Tabares being made chairman and Mrs. Sharon Sipe taking over as the new Latin teacher.

Two language clubs were formed for the first time at C.H.S. Spanish classes organized La Tertulia and spoke only Spanish at meetings. Latin classes joined the Junior Classical League. They held two Roman banquets where Roman customs and dress were observed to make them realistic.

French, Latin, and Spanish students all made full use of the language lab's new equipment to improve their ability to speak and understand the languages.

Social Studies Classes Aided By Simulations

Social studies students experienced new facilities and a few new teachers this year with the completion of the new Bundy Auditorium and the addition of three government and economics teachers. Available to students was the social studies resource center containing a large and most helpful volume of study materials to aid students.

Junior History classes were able to take advantage of the new auditorium for large group lectures and testing, as well as meeting in classes for small groups.

Students of the government and economics classes, like other history classes, took part in simulations and battles. The government classes held pretend trials, while economics students played class related games.

Sociology classes this year had many very interesting classroom situations. These included various games which enabled the students to learn more about themselves and others. Field trips to the Indiana Girls' School at Indianapolis and to the Indiana State Hospital at New Castle highlighted the year.

Students Enjoy Labs

Science students this year learned to investigate and understand what is happening in the world around them. To do this the young scientists tried everything from learning about the science involved in daily living, to dissecting animals, to finding out that a mole is not just a nearsighted little furry animal.

Physics, biology, regular and advanced chemistry, integrated science, and advanced biology all took advantage of the lab to make the courses interesting and more beneficial. Advanced chemistry students especially used the lab training as they had to create and conduct their own experiments. Although the science courses were taught as individual disciplines, they were interrelated through curriculum development.

Math Courses Hold Challenge For Students

Circumferences, logarithms, hyperbolas, and hypotenuses were but a few of the subjects encountered by the CHS mathematicians. Armed with sliderules, pencils, and often a confused brain, the mathematics students tried to solve the challenging problems. By using a text book, labs, the overhead projector, and the blackboard, the teachers conveyed methods for solving even the most complicated problems.

Analysis, geometry and algebra are usually related to some type of advanced study. Technical math students used what they learned to help them solve problems in shop classes.

Jr., Sr. High Combine For Use Of 'Music Suite'

A complex of rooms, appropriately called "The Music Suite," was built as part of Bundy Auditorium for the use of the Junior and Senior High music departments. The "Suite" consisted of two large rehearsal rooms, two offices, individual rehearsal rooms, a library for filing music, and a uniform storage room. These facilities enabled the music organizations to rehearse with the proper acoustics. Classes included were Band, Orchestra, Chorale, and Music Theory. Activities were Swing Choir, Madrigals, and Studio Orchestra. Approximately 220 were enrolled in various activities.

Art Students Work Under Contract

Mr. William Zeigler: B. A., M. A., Art, Art Department Chr., Jr. Class Sponsor, Art Club.

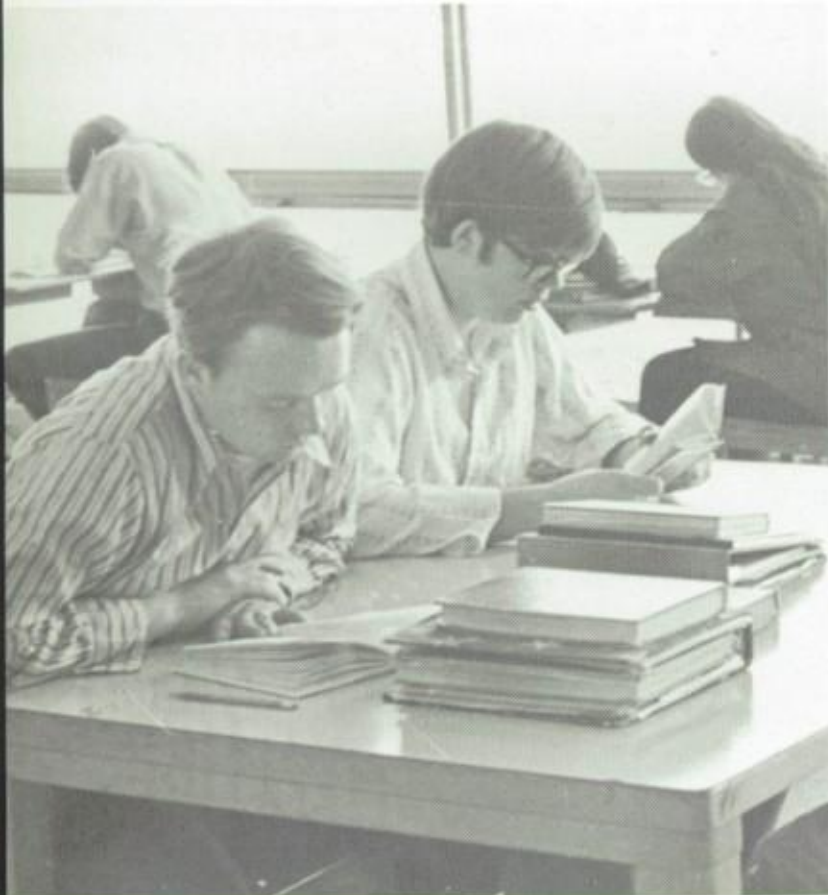

This year, more than ever, there were several mediums of expression open to art students. Drawing, painting, sculpture, and block prints were common interests to all and a back-to-nature trend was evident. Art teacher Mr. William Zeigler and "right-hand man" Mrs. Pat Millis introduced sophomores to the methods and materials of the general program. Juniors had more freedom to choose their own area of interest and could work on special projects. Seniors demonstrated their responsibility by working under contract and designing their own programs in terms of six week periods. These projects ranged from a tapestry stitching to cookie jars.

Library Acts As Study And Resource Area

Mrs. Ruth S. Creech; B.A., M.L.S., Librarian.

Students utilized the library as a resource center using the abundant supply of informational material. To accommodate students, the library contained a variety of interesting and educational magazines as well as a complete list of up to date reference materials.

Students also used the library as a study center. Mrs. Ruth Creech, librarian, worked endlessly to maintain an atmosphere of quiet study. Recently laid carpeting and appropriate posters added to this atmosphere and helped brighten the library.

English Courses Aid Students In Self Understanding

Book reports, spelling, in-depth studies of topics, term papers, and speeches were among the areas covered by the English classes. Learning to express oneself and to understand the works of others were emphasized at all levels.

A new class was formed in Applied English, Health Occupations. The class was vocationally oriented, teaching vocabulary and explaining forms which related to the health occupations of the students.

Much planning by the English department resulted in a new phase elective program which will go into effect next year. The English department will include approximately 70 specialized six, twelve, and eighteen week programs. In January students made their selections for the following school year.

New Office Lab Is Introduced To Business Students

Under the New Castle Area Vocational School, an intensive office lab for advanced business students was begun. Students from New Castle and area schools worked in actual office surroundings to gain experience. The pupils did jobs for some local businesses and performed various types of clerical work for the school. Playing an important part in other business classes, field trips were taken to Chicago, Indianapolis, Muncie, and some local offices to learn firsthand how business establishments really operate.

Industrial Ed Classes Stress Practical Projects

A new building maintenance class for seniors was begun this year in the industrial education department. These students did various types of repair work around school such as installing information signs above office doors. The classes in building trades constructed a mini-barn in Westwood. The students built most of the building in the classroom and took the prefabricated parts to the building site. Classes in metals, power and transportation, drafting, and electronics stressed the practical with projects and field trips. Vocational training was available through New Castle Area Vocational School to students from Knightstown, Hagerstown, and Union.

Health Occupations, Home Ec Reach Beyond School

Home Economics students discovered there is more to managing a home than simply cooking and sewing. Creating a home involves a complex function of planning and managing a household in a socially changing society. As always, community involvement was stressed and some students received a rewarding experience by being involved in Home Economics Related Occupations known as HERO. These students attended school halfdays and worked afternoons on a job related to their chosen occupation. Courses included in Home Ec. were home management, home nursing and childcare, housing and interior design, family living, textiles, and design.

For the first year, Health Occupations was offered as a vocational class separate from Home Economics. Eighteen enrollees attended school halfdays and held jobs related to Health in the afternoons. This class coordinator was Mrs. Nancy Walts, the school nurse.

Physical Education Stimulates Mind, Controls Body

An excellent program of activities, provided by physical education classes, assisted in the development of minds, muscular power, and improved coordination of the sophomore class. Group responsibility was stressed by team sports such as dodgeball, softball, basketball, and volleyball. Students also discovered their individual ability in games such as tennis, archery, tumbling, and track and field. These activities aided in the development of young minds and their attitudes toward physical fitness in future years.

Emotions were often released in a rowdy team sport. A special favorite of both boys' and girls' Phys. Ed classes was dodgeball. According to the girls' standards, it was a game of seeing who could hide the longest from the dreaded, ugly pink thing called the dodgeball. However, for the boys' it was "kill or be killed." Rough as it was, it seemed to be the all time favorite.

Education, Understanding Goal Of School Officials

The school corporation saw the realization of many years of planning with the opening of the Parkview Junior High and the Bundy Auditorium. The community's concern over flexible scheduling was a topic to which the School Board gave much consideration. Implementing Public Law 162 also concerned them. The new state law dealt with student rights and responsibilities and regulating school behavior. After much study the school board decided to continue flexible scheduling but with stricter discipline.

Better education through understanding student wants and needs was the goal of the CHS administration. Always willing to listen, Principal William E. Lehr made himself available to talk to any student. New courses also were added to the school curriculum allowing students to choose according to their own needs.

CHS'ers Depend On Staffs

A time clock was added to the counseling center where students were required to punch in or out when they arrived late or left during the day.

Counselors arranged to see students through call cards which meant a "cut" class or a school problem to some. Usually, however, students found the counseling center a place for curriculum planning, and college or technical school information.

Several auxiliary staffs were essential to the operation of CHS. The secretaries handled the switch board, school accounts and records, and typed, and filed material. Teacher aids provided needed assistance in the library, resource centers, and study areas. Accomplishing the difficult task of feeding over 1300 people was a diligent cafeteria staff. An efficient custodial staff worked long hours to keep CHS clean and orderly.

Taking time out to pose for a picture are busy secretaries (SEATED) Mrs. E. Ingram, Mrs. C. Pope, (STANDING) Mrs. N. Craig, Mrs. H. Porter, Mrs. M. Bow, Mrs. N. Bunton, Mrs. M. Williams.

Mr. Twyman Patterson: B.A., M.A., English, Counselor, Football Coach, Lettermen's Club, F.C.A., Miss Evelyn Rentchler: B.S., M.S., Counselor, Dept. Chr., Mr. Robert E. Rinehart: B.S., M.A., Counselor, Student Council sponsor, Mrs. Mary Sinnock: A.B., M.A., Counselor, Student Council advisor. BELOW: Counselors discuss curriculum of underclassmen.

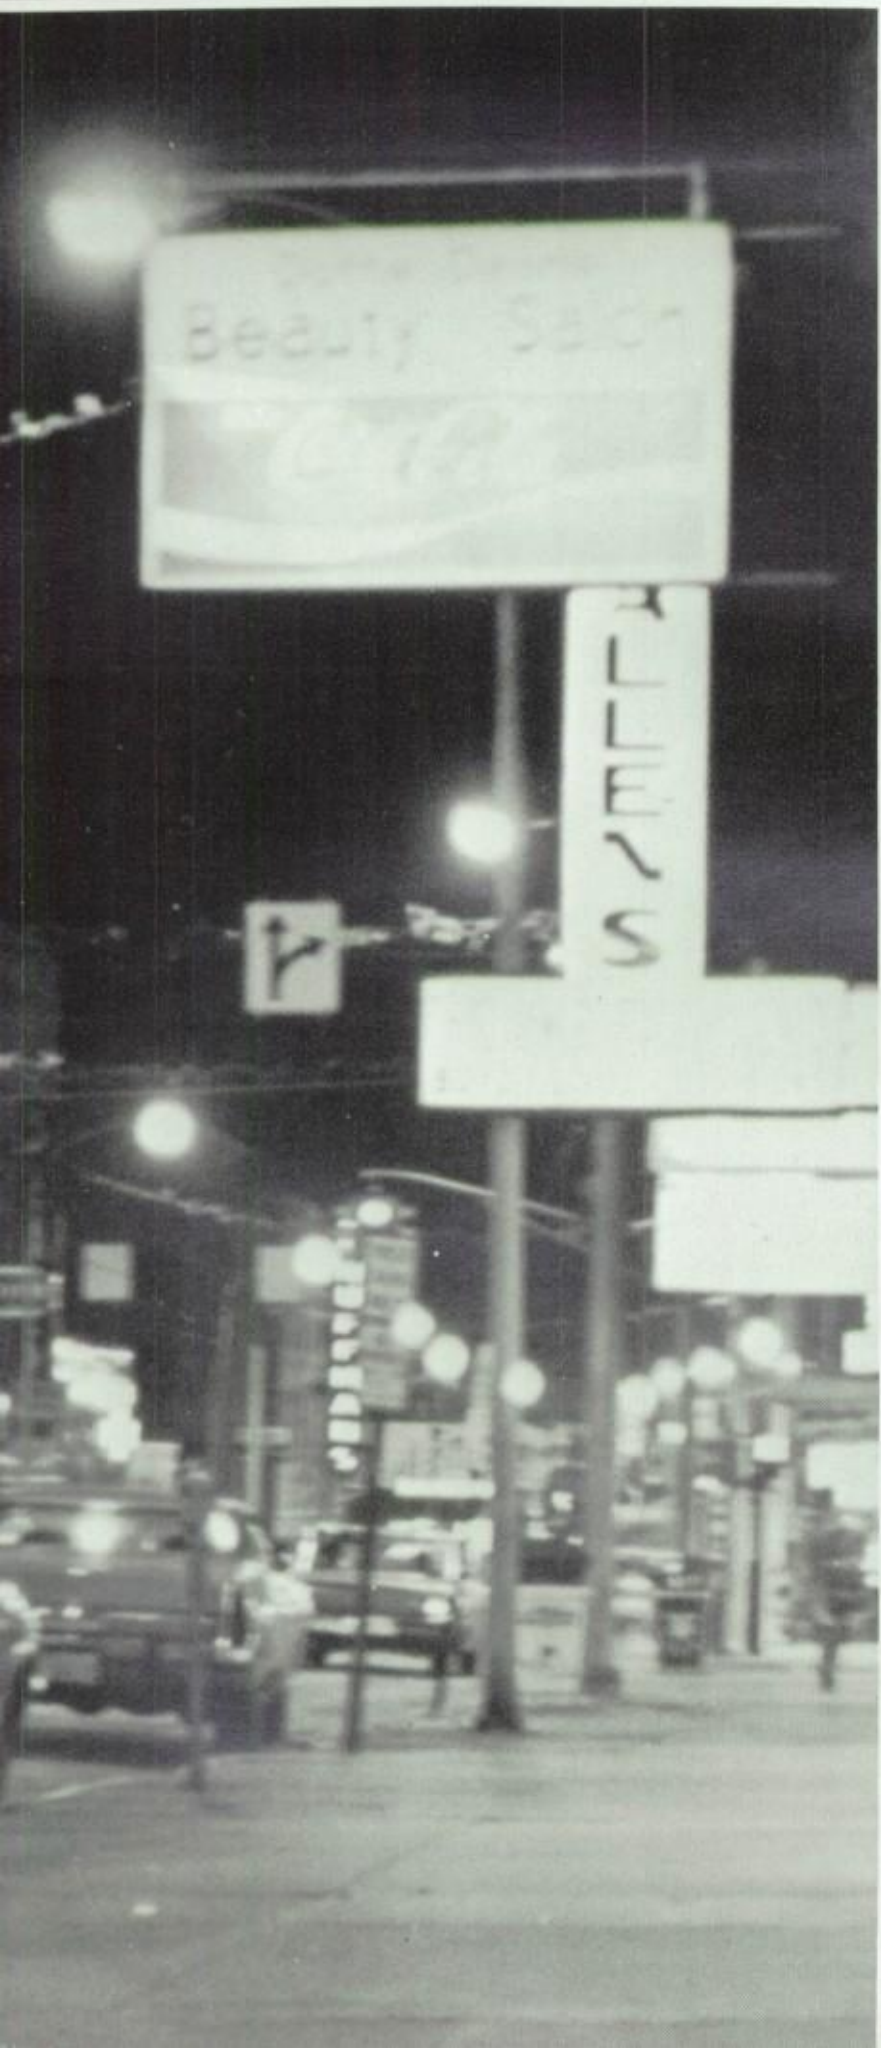

Assisting in various jobs are teacher aids (STANDING) Karen Raines, Jewell Thornhill, Irma Kirby, Ruth Stamper, Cheryl Razor, (SEATED) Pat Mills, Phyllis Fernander, Marilyn Montgomery.

Working hard to satisfy hunger pangs at CHS are the cafeteria staff (STANDING) R. Anderson, B. Rains, J. Betts, I. Bell, L. Hoots, B. Moffitt, P. Church, W. Crabtree, (SEATED) W. Hedrick, G. Keith, M. Sells, R. Steele, C. Fowler, H. Ulz, L. Rinsch, E. Wallen.

Acknowledgements

The 1973 Rosennial was created with the idea of reaching everyone. The headlines in the opening section are 24 point Optima as are the headlines throughout. Body copy type is 10 point Optima. Captions, idents, and cutlines are set in 8 point Optima type. Stylized type on the cover and in the opening section was created by Mr. Steve Leitz. The paper is 80 pound Warren Tru White. Layout style is the Miller form, a Mosaic subtype. The cover, designed by Mary Foster, was manufactured by American Yearbook Company of Topeka, Kansas. The artwork is on natural white. American Embossed cover.

We extend our greatest appreciation to the following people for their help.

Living Among a Diversity of Man

In the beginning
 God created man
 And man
 Created a diversity
 Of Men.
 In this formation
 Of mankind
 People were born
 Who would change
 The world into many
 Dimensions so that
 All would have
 Their own place:
 A place undivided,
 Unique and most
 Of all, their own
 Creation.
 This creation
 Makes a person not a
 Type, but making everyone
 A man
 Deep down
 Himself.

Time can be contained
 Only by memories.
 The mind is the key
 To these memories.
 Pictures cannot tell the Whole story.
 A camera or a mirror
 Can hide someone's identity.
 Only one's mind can determine
 Identity.
 The question remains,
 Who am I?
